Oil Price To Rise 23%

. . . Excess Profits Tax Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cost of Living Council granted a 23 per cent jump in the price of domestic crude oil Wednesday, setting up another big round of increases in the retail cost of gasoline and home heating oil.

The $1-a-barrel increase will push the retail after-tax price of gasoline to 44.6 cents per gallon, compared to 37.2 cents average for regular gasoline last Jan. 10, the council said.

The price of home heating oil will go to 30.7 cents, up from a January average of 19.4 cents.

At the same time President Nixon proposed an excess profits tax to prevent oil companies from reaping huge windfall profits from the soaring prices on scarce petroleum products.

Meanwhile, Senate-House conferees stripped a controversial antibusing amendment from emergency energy legislation which the White House said was "in deep trouble."

The conferees also agreed to drop a provision in the House-passed version of the bill that would ban exports of petroleum products to Indochina, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., head of the Senate delegation, said.

Treasury Secretary George Shultz said at a White House briefing that excess profits would be taxed under Nixon's proposal as prices rise above a base level equivalent to the federal ceiling price of Dec. 1, 1973.

But the proposal is aimed most directly at the roughly 20 per cent of U.S. oil production called "new oil" which is not under federal price controls.

The other 80 per cent falls within the price controls which had limited the price of crude oil to around $4.25 per barrel. Under the hike approved Wednesday, that goes to $5.25.

The Cost of Living Council said the increase probably would go into effect in January and February.

An additional two-cent increase for home heating oil approved by the council two weeks ago goes on top of the hike granted Wednesday and would raise the consumer price ultimately to 32.7 cents.

Council Director John T. Dunlop said the price rise for crude petroleum was necessary because of rapidly rising world prices and the prices of new crude oil production.

However, Dunlop also indicated the council may be reacting to pressure to remove price controls on the petroleum industry altogether.

"There are eloquent spokesmen for that point of view in many places, including this city," Dunlop said.

The council soon will give up all control over domestic petroleum prices at any rate since this will be taken over by the new Federal Energy Administration headed by William E. Simon.

Asked if Simon had ordered Wednesday's $1 per barrel price hike, Dunlop said, "No."

The council had voted previously to exempt new domestic petroleum from price controls in order to encourage development, and Congress recently voted to exempt production from small wells known as stripper wells.

Nixon coupled his proposal with two alternative ideas for returning some of the excess profit tax money into efforts to increase the nation's energy supplies.

In announcing his proposal at the White House briefing, Nixon said, "I want to assure all Americans that there will be no windfall profits at their expense."

Nixon said the proposal he would send to Congress when it reconvenes in January would apply an excess profits tax ranging from 10 per cent up to 85 per cent on profits above certain levels on a graduated scale.

However, the President said the tax would phase itself out as prices increased to their natural level in the marketplace.

A Treasury Department explanation said the proposal was aimed primarily at discouraging tremendous price increases on oil from the unregulated sources.

The department said oil prices probably would have to rise to about $7 per barrel over the next three years because of legitimate cost increases and the need for oil which cannot be produced economically at lower prices.

But the department said that free market pressures, concentrated on the 20 per cent of production which is not controlled, could push the price of "new oil" to $20 or more per barrel, raising the average price of all oil to $8 or $9 per barrel and this could yield high windfall profits which the companies had not earned by their efforts.

The explanation appeared to make an exception for foreign crude oil, leaving it outside both federal price controls and the excess profits tax.

Foreign crude prices have been rising rapidly and in some areas prices as high as $17 per barrel have been sought.

Nixon left the briefing to return to a meeting of his Cabinet-level energy group, discussing further energy measures which were believed to include the impending decision for or against gasoline rationing.

Purchasing Opinion Backs Hoppe

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

An attorney general's opinion released to The Star Wednesday appears to settle a dispute between county commissioners and Lancaster County Engineer Walter Hoppe over the method of purchase of county vehicles.

According to the opinion written by Assistant Attorney General C.C. Sheldon, the purchasing of items of equipment within the purview of the budget is a "matter entirely within the discretion of the individual office holder."

"Under these circumstances, it would seem that the only function of the county board would be the ministerial act of approving claims for such purchases as a formality for the payment thereof," the opinion states.

County Attorney Paul Douglas had asked the attorney general for an opinion after Hoppe had requested legal opinions on some of the questions raised when the commissioners suggested that Hoppe purchase cars and trucks through the City of Lincoln at their bid prices.

New Commissioner Jan Gauger had said when Hoppe made the request to advertise for bids for the vehicles that the county would probably save money by purchasing the vehicles through the city's open bid rather than to advertise for bids separately.

The attorney general's opinion specifically states that once the official's budget has been approved, "whether cars and trucks shall be purchased through the City of Lincoln at their bid prices is a matter within the discretion of the county officer for whom the same are being purchased."

Sheldon states that the answers to most of Hoppe's questions are found in a previous opinion rendered in 1958 and to which Douglas had referred in previous discussions with the board.

In the previous opinion it states that the county board may set up a requisition system of purchasing by county officers if it desires and request that it be used but "it cannot require that it be used as prerequisite to the expenditure of budgeted funds should the officers choose to disregard the system and make purchases without using the system."

That opinion also states that bids are not required for purchase of supplies and materials and equipment by county officers which has also been a matter of disagreement between county officials and the present county board.

Hoppe, who in October had asked the board's permission to advertise for bids on cars, pickup trucks and two-ton trucks for his department, said Wednesday that he intends to notify the board that he is withdrawing his request in light of the fuel crisis.

He said he felt it would be unwise to purchase the vehicles at this time since it is not known what effect the shortage of gas and diesel fuel will have on the county's receipts from the Highway Allocation Fund.

Lancaster County now receives about $1,200,000 annually from this fund, Hoppe said, noting that indications are that this amount could be reduced 30% due to the fuel shortage.

Adams Hit By Blaze

Firemen from several southeast Nebraska communities battled a fire in Adams Wednesday night which raged out of control for more than two hours destroying at least two buildings and threatening a third.

Lorn Oosting, a member of the Adams fire department, said the Jobman Electric Store and the Klein Hardware Store were totally destroyed by the blaze.

The fire apparently broke out at 8:30 p.m. in the Jobman Electric Store. The cause of the blaze was not immediately known.

Oosting said the fire was threatening Larry's Barber Shop but they seemed to be getting it under control.

He said that several times firemen thought they had the fire under control only to have it break out again.

Fire units responded from Beatrice, Filley, Sterling, Pickrell, Hickman and Firth.

Rail Bill Agreed On

©The New York Times

Washington — A House-Senate conference committee agreed Wednesday on legislation to restructure bankrupt railroads in the Northeast and Midwest under a new government rail corporation to be known as the U.S. Railway Association.

The federal government would provide $1.5 billion in guaranteed loans for establishing the new system from the 17-state region's seven major bankrupt lines.

Another $558.5 million would be made available from tax funds. Of this amount, $250 million would be used to compensate laid-off workers, $85 million would provide interim financing, $43.5 million would pay start-up and administrative expenses, and $180 million over two years would provide operating subsidies for selected lines not included in the final plan.

5 Nebraskans Die Due To Snowstorm

Parts of Nebraska were buried under 14 inches of snow Thursday, leftovers from the storm that sneaked in Tuesday and Wednesday before winter's official arrival Friday and marched out of the state, leaving five dead, including two Lincolnites.

The Lancaster County Sheriff's office reported two Lincoln men died from apparent heart attacks suffered while shoveling snow. They were identified as Allie Peters, 70, 2413 No. 70th, and James P. Hempel, 57, 3533 No. 48th.

A rural Avoca farmer, Henry Oldenburg, 54, died when the tractor he was driving in blowing snow on a county blacktop road rolled into a ditch and pinned him, according to the Associated Press. Harry Jacobson, who lives near the accident scene, noticed a tractor wheel sticking out of the snow Wednesday morning and found the body.

Omaha Man Dies

In Omaha, Robert J. Adams, 51, died of an apparent heart attack Wednesday while he was operating a pickup truck equipped with a snow plow blade for the Leo A. Daly Co. Adams was pronounced dead on arrival at an Omaha hospital.

The AP reported the death Tuesday of a Gering woman, Mrs. Twila Cook, 61, who also had a heart attack while shoveling snow.

Meanwhile, Nebraskans were digging themselves out of the blowing and drifting snow that was accompanied by northerly winds of 25 to 35 miles an hour.

The National Weather Service (NWS) issued a travelers advisory for part of the day Wednesday, with hazardous driving conditions reported.

Wednesday evening, Bob Munger, State Department of Roads assistant public information director, said that road conditions across Nebraska were "not too bad."

I-80 'Passable'

Interstate 80 from Omaha to Wyoming was partially snowpacked, Munger reported, but "passable all the way." In sheltered areas, he said, snow will drift onto the highway resulting in packing and "potentially dangerous" conditions.

"With normal winter caution, you can go right along," Munger said.

He reported all roads in the northern part of Nebraska normal. Most roads in the Panhandle were snow-covered.

"There's spotted ice here and there primarily caused from the snowpack" on roads in southeastern Nebraska, Munger said. "Our boys are out working away at it."

The communities of Sutherland and Wellfleet were without power for an hour Wednesday morning when an insulator failed at a Nebraska Public Power District substation, according to AP.

Flurries Occur

The NWS said despite continuing winds causing drifting snow, flurries that occurred Wednesday in the state should not add to reported snow depths.

More Weather News, Page 19

Stations reporting included: York, Emerald and Weeping Water, 14 inches; Doniphan, 12; Lincoln, 11½, Papillion, 10; Seward, 9; Grand Island, David City, Hastings, Hebron and Superior, 8; Crete, 7; Scottsbluff and Beatrice, 5; North Platte, 4. Norfolk and Valentine in northern Nebraska recorded 3 and 1, respectively.

The line of the storm was distinctly marked, evidenced by snowfall in Omaha: North Omaha recorded four inches, while Eppley Airfield in mid-Omaha reported six and Offutt Air Force Base on Omaha's south edge got a whopping 11 inches.

Winter begins officially at 6:08 p.m. Friday, and an NWS spokesman said it might bring with it on Saturday another major storm that was brewing Wednesday on the Pacific Coast and heading eastward.

JUNIPERPERPER

The Elf Who Couldn't Do Anything Right

CHAPTER 8
By Bob Boyle

After lunch, instead of napping Juniperperper walked into the recreation room of Santa House and watched Sunny Sun Fish entertain some of the elves.

The fish poked his head out of the water and blew a stream of water right on Juniperperper.

"Hey, what are you doing," said Juniperperper as he and the other elves laughed

"That's his way of saying, Hello," Santa explained. "Now watch him."

Sunny Sun Fish started swimming around the bowl and then, very unfish like, he turned over on his back and did the backstroke. He then jumped out of the water and grabbed a piece of bread which one of the elves held up.

"He's a real clown," Santa said.

"Well," Santa said. "It's time to get back to work. After that workout, I'm sure Sunny Sun Fish needs a rest, too."

Santa put his hand on Juniperperper's shoulder and said, "Okay, little fellow. It's off to the toy fire engine shop for us."

"Gee," Santa," he replied. "I'm scared now. I sure hope I don't mess things up in the toy fire engine factory."

"I'm sure you won't, Juniperperper," Santa replied. "That little error in the bicycle shop could have happened to anyone on the first day on the job. Just don't worry about it. I'm confident that you'll do okay."

Santa and Juniperperper entered the toy fire engine building and Juniperperper's eyes popped.

"Gee, Santa," he said. "I've never seen so many toy fire engines in my life. There must be thousands and thousands of them."

Santa called over Jasper and said, "Here is Juniperperper."

"Now take Juniperperper to the workshop," Santa said. "and let him start assembling the toy fire engines."

"Okay " Jasper said, and the two elves went off together.

"Here we are," Jasper said. "Here are the wheels, the steering wheels, the toy light and the toy siren. Put them all together and fasten them to the engine and we'll be all set. Do you have tools?"

"What did I do wrong Santa?"

"No, I don't," Juniperperper replied. "What can I use?"

"Use the ones on the bench," Jasper replied. "That's what they are there for. Now, lots of luck. I must make my rounds and I'm sure when I get back you'll have the toy fire engine all assembled."

When Jasper left, Juniperperper thought, "I sure hope I do this right."

He got the wheels and placed them.

He took the tiny steering wheel and put it on the engine.

He attached the little siren

He placed the little red flashing light

"Mmmm, it looks good," he thought. Then he looked at the shelf and saw a can of paint.

"Boy, oh, boy, I know what I'll do," he thought. "I'll paint the fire engine."

He reached over the bench and got a brush and began to paint.

He painted the wheels.

He painted the steering wheel.

He painted the siren.

He painted the light.

When he was finished he looked at his work and thought, "Gee, this looks beautiful. Santa will be so proud of me."

Then Jasper came into the room.

"My goodness," he yelled. "What happened here?"

Jasper ran to the red phone, picked it up and said, "Santa you better come over here right away. We're having an emergency."

Lickity split, Santa ran to the toy fire engine factory. "What's wrong, what's wrong?" he said as he entered.

"My, oh, my, oh, my," Santa said. "I've never seen anything like that in my life."

"What did I do wrong, Santa?" Juniperperper asked.

"Well, Juniperperper," Santas aid. "For one thing, we don't paint our fire engines black. They should be red. And, another thing, we don't paint over the light. And, we don't paint the siren or it wouldn't work. And, the toy fire engine should have four wheels, not three.

"Oh, Juniperperper, I'm sorry," Santa said. "But I don't think you're ready for the toy fire engine shop, either.

"Let's go back to the house, and we'll see what we can do for tomorrow."

"Well, you're from the Magic Snow Forest, so I bet you are an expert on skiing. So tomorrow I'll put you in the ski factory. And just so things go right I'll put you in the test area. That means you'll ski all day."

"Swell, Santa," Juniperperper said. But he really didn't mean it. He didn't have the heart to tell Santa he couldn't ski.

Lincolnite Aids Expectant Mom

An expectant mother stranded in a snowbound farm home made it to the hospital in time early Wednesday morning, thanks to the help of Lincolnite Ray Gottner.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Helmick became the parents of an eight pound, 11 ounce baby boy early Wednesday afternoon. Mother and baby were reported "doing fine" at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Gottner, of 530 Lakewood Dr., owner of a four-whell drive vehicle equipped with chains had offered his services to the State Patrol Tuesday night.

After Mr. and Mrs. Helmick, of rural Roca, turned in a 911 emergency call from a friend's home near Hickman, the Patrol called Gottner shortly after 4 a.m.

Gottner, who made the trip with his son Steve, said he also picked up a stranded motorist on the trip back to Lincoln and dropped him off at a gas station.

Snowmobile Use Limited

Police Wednesday issued a reminder that snowmobiles can be operated legally only on private property and then only with the consent of the owner.

Lt. Clifton Koch said the vehicles can be operated on city streets only in "dire emergencies" in which they are needed to obtain food or medicine.

Even in those situations, Koch said, snowmobile operators should contact police first. Koch said that three citations were issued Wednesday for illegal snowmobile use.

New York Times News Summary

Middle East Peace Conference Is Taking Shape

(c) New York Times News Service

Geneva — The Middle East peace conference began to take shape as the foreign ministers of Egypt and the Soviet Union arrived in Geneva and began strategy talks. The Israeli, Jordanian and American delegations are due Thursday, along with Secretary General Waldheim, who is scheduled to convene the conference Thursday morning. (More on Page 2.)

Proposal Politely Put Off

Paris — The European Common Market has politely deferred major consideration of the United States' proposal for international collaboration to resolve the energy crisis. Common Market officials have met twice since Secretary of State Kissinger made the proposal Dec. 13, but the plan has received very little attention so far, partly because of preoccupation with the Middle East peace conference.

Oil, Gas Prices Going Up More

Washington — The Nixon administration cleared the way for a general price increase for oil and gasoline products while asking Congress to levy a "windfall profits" tax on oil producers. (More on Page 1.)

Busing Provision Deleted

Washington — A Senate-House conference committee working on a compromise emergency energy bill agreed to delete provisions that would have banned the use of fuel to transport children beyond their neighborhood schools and for use by the military in Southeast Asia. (More on Page 1.)

Sirica Protects Part Of Tapes

Washington — Chief Judge John J. Sirica ruled that nearly all of two of the subpoenaed White House tapes and part of a third would not be turned over to the special Watergate prosecutor because they contained "nothing" related to Watergate. The ruling, the President's first real victory in the legal struggle over the tapes, largely sustained his description of the tapes' contents. (More on Page 3.)

Bankrupt Railroads Bill Agreed

Washington — Senate-House conference committee agreed on legislation to restructure seven bankrupt railroads east of the Mississippi under a new government corporation. The new, trimmed-down system would be financed by $1.5 billion in guaranteed government loans and an outright grant of $558.5 million.

$1.1 Billion Released

Washington — President Nixon released $1.1 billion in education and health funds that he had been refusing to spend in a major dispute with Congress over presidential impoundment of congressional appropriations. (More on Page 26.)

Gromyko, Fahmy Arrive In Geneva

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — The Soviet and Egyptian foreign ministers pledged Wednesday to work for success of the Middle East peace conference, but Moscow's Andrei Gromyko warned the talks would be complicated.

Gromyko and Ismail Fahmy of Egypt were the first principal delegates to arrive in Geneva for the conference opening Friday. The American, Israeli and Jordanian delegations were expected Thursday.

In restrained airport statements before dining together, Gromyko and Fahmy stressed the need for constructive results at the conference.

Arriving with a 14-man delegation including military experts, Fahmy said the world knew the Mideast situation remains "highly explosive" and expected a fast start at the conference to produce "tangible results."

Shortly after Fahmy spoke, the Israeli military command in Tel Aviv reported an exchange of artillery, missile and small arms fire across the Suez front, with no casualties reported. Newsmen on the Syrian front heard artillery and machine gun fire for six hours.

Fahmy reiterated the Arab aim for an Israeli withdrawal "from all occupied Arab territories" and restoration of the Palestinians' national rights.

Arriving an hour later, Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko warned the conference would be "very complicated" but said Moscow would "do everything possible to contribute" to its success.

A half-smile playing on his face, the veteran negotiator said he hoped to see "good will and realism around the conference table."

Gromyko did not mention Syria's boycott of at least the opening stages of the conference.

But he said the very fact that the meeting was definitely going to be held was in itself "a success for the forces favoring an equitable settlement in the Middle East."

In Paris, a high U.S. official said President Hafez Assad of Syria had assured Kissinger last Saturday that Israeli war prisoners in Syria were being well treated. He asked Kissinger to relay this assurance to Israel, which has declined to negotiate with Syria until prisoner-of-war lists are exchanged and Red Cross representatives see the Israeli prisoners.

The U.S. official said Assad's word did not reassure Israel on the POW issue. Israel has charged that prisoners in Syria have been tortured and some even killed.

Syria announced Tuesday it would not take part in the Geneva talks, at least in the opening phases, because of indicated "maneuvers serving Israeli interests."

King Hussein of Jordan and his senior advisers flew to Syria to talk with Assad. Officially the talks were to continue coordination of policy on Middle East developments. Sources in Amman said the discussions concerned Syria's boycott of the conference.

After opening ceremonies and procedural talks, possibly lasting two or three days, the Geneva conference is expected to adjourn until after the Dec. 31 Israeli elections.

House, Senate To Push Benefits Hike

Washington (UPI) — House and Senate committee chairmen agreed Wednesday to try to push an 11% Social Security increase through Congress this week.

Chairman Russell Long, D-La., of the Senate Finance Committee and acting Chariman Al Ullman, D-Ore., of the House Ways and Means Committee buried some of their past sharp differences over the bill and held what was described as a friendly meeting to work on a compromise.

After meeting with the Ways and Means Committee, Ullman decided to allow the bill to go to a conference and a meeting was scheduled for Thursday afternoon. Both sides were cautiously optimistic that a Social Security bill would be passed before the Christmas recess.

"We agreed that we want a Social Security increase before we go home," Ullman said. Congress plans to start a month-long holiday recess this weekend.

Neither Ullman nor Long would say how they had worked out differences.

Senate sources said one compromise under consideration was that the 11% increase be passed this week along with any Senate amendments that the House committee could agree on. The remainder of the Senate amendments would be considered promptly in separate legislation next year.

Both houses had agreed on a two-step 11% increase. The House would give the first 7% in April checks, while the Senate would give the first 7% immediately. Both houses would give the remaining 4% in July checks.

Sen. Ervin To Retire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., who became a national folk hero as chairman of the Senate's nationally televised Watergate investigation, announced his retirement Wednesday.

The 77-year-old Ervin said he won't run for re-election in 1974, noting that he would be 84 by the time he completed another six-year Senate term.

"Since time takes a constantly accelerating toll of those of us who live many years," Ervin said, "it is simply not reasonable for me to assume that my eye will remain undimmed and my natural force stay unabated for so long a time."

He announced his retirement by placing a seven-page statement into the Congressional Record a few minutes before he held a news conference.

Appointed to the Senate in 1954 to succeed the late Sen. Clyde R. Hoey, Ervin won election four times, as he rose in seniority and became one of the Senate's chief constitutional experts.

A senior member of the Judiciary and Armed Services Committees, he last year became chairman of the Government Operations Committee.

A traditional Southern Democrat who often voted with the Republicans, Ervin was a critic of Supreme Court school desegregation rulings and civil rights legislation. But he was also a strong civil libertarian who denounced increased wiretapping and invasion of privacy.

As chairman of the Watergate committee, he presided over long hours of hearings which probed the break-in at the Democratic party's Watergate headquarters and the efforts by President Nixon's White House and campaign aides to cover it up.

He has become one of the most widely recognized men in the Senate, whose every appearance on the floor produces small flurries and pointed fingers on the visitors' galleries.

A book of his folksy stories, and production of "Uncle Sam" t-shirts and sweatshirts accompanied his rise to fame.

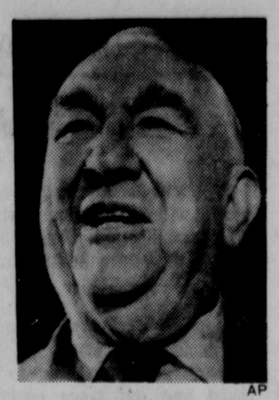
There have been persistent reports that Ervin would step down. Even before he made it official Wednesday, potential candidates had been making plans to run for his seat.

Among the Democrats, state Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan is considered a likely candidate. Former White House aide Henry Hall Wilson has already announced and started running for the seat.

On the Republican side, the front-runner is believed to be Rep. Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, the former Major League baseball pitcher.

Ervin's Republican colleague from North Carolina, freshman Jesse Helms, said Ervin's retirement is "bound to sadden all members of the Senate.

"He has become a legend in his own time, a man who has made his mark on history," Helms said.



Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr.

Re-Election Committee Shuts Door

Washington (UPI) — The Committee for the re-election of the President has gone out of existence without public notice but its Finance Committee which handled an estimated $60 million in campaign funds was still in operation Wednesday.

A spokesman for the finance group said the re-election Committee, headed first by John N. Mitchell and then Clark McGregor, ceased operation Oct. 31. The Finance Committee continues in operation at the same premises at 1701 Pennsylvania Avenue with a skeleton staff.

Both outfits were heavily involved in the Watergate disclosures. Mitchell and the former finance chairman, Maurice Stans, are under indictment on charges of accepting illegal contributions for the Nixon campaign from fugitive financier Robert L. Vesco.

Robert R. Rousek, director of communications for the Republican National Committee, said it was his understanding that the Finance Committee would have to stay in operation because of a number of pending lawsuits.

Non-Watergate Privilege Upheld

. . . Panel To Hear Conversations

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge ended a long series of court maneuvers Wednesday by ruling that President Nixon is entitled to keep non-Watergate conversations from tape recordings that will be played for the grand jury.

The ruling, by U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica, means that seven subpoenaed tapes and some related written material will go to the Watergate grand jury — minus items that do not bear on its probe.

"Judge Sirica has made express findings that the matters as to which executive privilege was claimed do not relate to the Watergate investigations," said a spokesman for special prosecutor Leon Jaworski. "We accept these findings."

The end of the first tapes controversy still left unresolved the baffling gap of 18 minutes on one tape. Sirica has said he expects to hear from audio experts after the first of the year. If the conversation can be reclaimed by electronic means — considered unlikely — it will go to the grand jury.

The portion with the gap — an 18¼ minute buzz — will be played for the jury, however, since it earlier had been heard in open court.

A White House tape figured, also, in another court action.

Lawyer William Dobrovir, who represents Ralph Nader in the milk fund case, was called before U.S. District Judge William B. Jones to explain why he played a White House tape at a Georgetown cocktail party Monday.

"I made a very foolish mistake," said Dobrovir. He added he had a copy of the recording when he went to the party and played it for six guests after saying "I've got in my pocket the hottest news item in town."

The story got out when a guest, ABC-News television director Kevin Delaney, told a network newsman about it.

Dobrovir obtained the tape, of a March 23, 1971 conversation, from the White House last week after presidential lawyers gave up a court fight to keep it from him.

Irwin Goldbloom, a Justice Department attorney, asked Judge Jones to impose a gag rule on Dobrovir. Jones refused, but issued an order prohibiting premature release of material in the case.

In other Watergate-related developments:

—Carnation Co. and its board chairman pleaded guilty to making $8,900 in illegal contributions during the 1972 political campaigns. U.S. District Judge George L. Hart imposed the maximum fines of $5,000 for the company and $1,000 for its chairman. The contributions included $5,000 to the Southern California presidential dinner committee; $2,900 to the Finance Committee for the Re-election of the President and $1,000 to the Senate-House Majority Dinner. The board chairman, H. Everett Olson, was charged with consenting to the illegal contributions.

Watergate Committee Serves Subpoenas On White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a massive hunt for information, the Senate Watergate committee Wednesday served the White House with subpoenas for 481 presidential tape recordings and hundreds of other documents.

The subpoenas were delivered to the White House by lawyers for the committee. Committee aides said there was no indication that White House lawyers had tried to refuse to accept them.

In addition to seeking the tape recordings of White House meetings and telephone calls, the committee subpoenaed 37 specific pieces of information relating to a $100,000 campaign contribution reportedly made by billionaire Howard Hughes to President Nixon's close friend C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo.

The subpoenas were delivered little more than a day after President Nixon reluctantly allowed to become law a bill giving the U.S. District Court here jurisdiction over congressional subpoenas.

Also sought were ledgers, books of accounts, receipts, appointment books, checks and check stubs, deposit slips and bank statements and petty cash records.

Seventy requests for information, all of them specific in detail, were made for data concerning alleged administration favoritism toward the dairy industry in exchange for campaign donations to President Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign.

The subpoenas also included a demand for the President's daily appointment log from Jan. 1, 1970 to Dec. 19, 1973.

The committee is also seeking copies of credit card vouchers and airline and railroad records relating to dozens of activities of the White House, the President, his chief aides and other Watergate principals.

The White House had no immediate reaction to receipt of the subpoenas. The President's chief Watergate counsel, J. Fred Buzhardt, could not be reached.

The Watergate committee tried unsuccessfully last summer to subpoena certain key Watergate tapes. When the White House refused to turn over the tapes, claiming executive privilege, the committee took the case to the courts. But U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica ruled that he had no jurisdiction over congressional subpoenas.

Laird Quits Nixon Staff

WASHINGTON (AP) — Melvin R. Laird resigned as President Nixon's chief domestic counselor Wednesday and appealed to the House to decide by March 15 whether it will impeach the President.

Laird predicted an impeachment resolution would fail, but said it should be brought up for a vote because the continuing Watergate controversy is hurting America's foreign, domestic and national security policies.

The former congressman who served as Nixon's first term defense secretary and joined the White House staff as a counselor last June said he was not expressing Nixon's own view in calling for a House vote by March 15.

Rep. Peter W. Rodino, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, said Wednesday he hopes the panel will complete its investigation by April.

Laird, who will become an executive of the Reader's Digest Association, said he is leaving the White House staff on Feb. 1 — a month later than he had originally planned. He said Nixon and Vice President Gerald R. Ford has asked him to stay on to help with preparation of the State of the Union and budget messages.

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The probable problem with the consulting recommendations to the board of Southeast Nebraska Technical Community College is that, at best, they are premature. This is true at least to the point where those recommendations call for development of a new central campus in Lincoln.

The Lincoln operation is now found in three locations, near the University of Nebraska campus, in Whittier Junior High at 2240 Vine and in the Bryan School building near 40th and Normal. It would take no genius to figure out that this is not the most idealic of arrangements.

Without a doubt, the Lincoln technical operation would be at its finest if it were all put together in one convenient package. But it is highly doubtful that this is the time for such a move.

This technical school area, composed of 15 counties, is not yet even a year old. Its board of governors has not yet even gone through its initial election, a process that will be completed in 1974 to replace the initial appointive board.

Additionally, the concept of the Lincoln operation, as it has consistently been sold to the people here, has been one of utilization of existing facilities. The original idea of operation through the Lincoln Public School System was junked by structural changes in the technical school approach at the state level of government but it remains valid for the newly structured Lincoln operation to use the public school facilities it is now operating in.

Also, it would seem difficult for the southeast district to make the Lincoln campus decision before it has had more time under its belt. What is done in Lincoln will affect what is done throughout the district and that question has not really been determined.

Surely, the district will want to provide as much service as possible to the areas within its boundaries beyond the three campuses at Lincoln, Milford and Fairbury. A full range of technical school offerings will not be possible in all areas of such a large district but some service can and will be provided throughout the area.

Also, there is the matter of where the money would come from for a $7 million campus in Lincoln. Even without any Lincoln request, the State Board of Technical Community Colleges is considering capital fund requests from 13 campuses throughout the state.

The only practical method of achieving any of this is through legislative appropriations and this, in our opinion, is not a very promising prospect. On the surface, at least, we would tend to doubt that an adequate case can be made in support of all that $20 million program.

The purpose of the reorganization of the technical college program in Nebraska was to strengthen and improve it. This obviously means that we will have to be spending some money on capital improvements, but not necessarily as a matter of first priority.

We believe the districts ought to get their feet on the ground and their futures more fully laid out before the state is asked to support an extensive capital improvements program. Certainly, the Legislature would demand no less than this.

It could even be a mistake psychologically for the southeast district to embark too quickly upon an extensive new campus program in Lincoln. The consultant is probably technically right in his recommendations but the timing and practicality of the Lincoln campus recommendation is open to serious question.

Mayor, Council At Odds

Mayor Schwartzkopf and the City Council are at odds again over the matter of appointments to city boards and commissions and the continued council concern over mayoral appointments is becoming more and more understandable.

At issue this time are the mayor's appointments to the revamped Human Rights Commission, the membership of which has been reduced from 11 to 9 commissioners. Schwartzkopf reappointed seven holdover members to the reorganized commission and two new faces: Merlyn McLaughlin and Art Knox, whose appointment was vacated when it was found he lived outside the city limits. A new appointment to replace Knox is expected this week. Of the holdover members the mayor appointed, two are women, one of whom is black. There were no other blacks appointed and no Indians or Mexican-Americans.

A number of council members have raised objections to the mayor's appointments on various grounds: again, that they had no input into the selection process; that the two women were appointed only for one-year terms while there were two and three-year term vacancies and that minorities are under-represented on the commission.

We think there is justification for some of these objections, especially the latter. The response of the mayor and a councilman who seemed to agree with him that there are also no "bohunks" or Russians on the commission is obviously shallow. Everybody knows, or should, that when we talk about minorities it is about minorities who are disadvantaged and have been discriminated against because of skin color or sex. They are the ones who should have representation and they are under-represented at best.

There is another area in which the mayor's overall philosophy of appointments concerns us. When Schwartzkopf was first elected, he brought many new faces into the citizen-participation arm of city government. It was like a breath of fresh air. Now it appears as if a reliance on the tried-and-true citizen-advisor has taken over. There are people who now serve the Schwartzkopf administration who have served the city in varying capacities over the last several years and more. They have performed yeoman's service and their talents are well-recognized, but they may be spread too thin. It seems as if the mayor's search for new layman talent has slowed down appreciably.

We support that feature of the strong mayor system of city government which gives the mayor the power to make most appointments with council confirmation. But Mayor Schwartzkopf, if he hasn't abused the power, at least has been insensitive to the opinions of other elected officials and certain segments of the community. And when his appointments have been criticized, he has stubbornly insisted, sometimes without foundation, that his appointments have been broadly representative of the community as a whole.

But it is important that not only should board and commissions be representative of differing age, race, job, economic and geographical categories, but also of differing points of view. And the mayor should strive, as he did when he first came to office, to bring as many new people as possible into the city policy-making process.

In short, the mayor can do a better job of using the power of appointment he holds.

Laird Resigns

Melvin Laird, as predicted, has resigned as President Nixon's top aide for domestic affairs, leaving at the White House a skeleton staff almost without a single advisor with whom the Congress and the public has a rapport or in whom they have confidence.

Laird's departure was marked by his declaration that the House should get on with voting on the question of Nixon's impeachment and with his prediction that impeachment would fail.

But he did not say specifically that it SHOULD fail, nor did he give the President that ringing vote of confidence and support that would be expected from a close, trusted and happy advisor. Why would he leave the White House for a job with the Readers Digest Association at a time when the President is swamped in adversity? The speculation can only be negative.

It may not have been his intent, but Laird's resignation during this tense period in national life only adds fuel to the impeachment fire.

Patchwork Prairie Country

A busy department store cannot vie with a farm kitchen when it comes to hustle and bustle that takes place before the Christmas holidays.

There are ducks and geese to be plucked and placed in the deep-freeze, the fruit cake to be baked and the fancy cookies frosted and stored in out-of-reach places.

Pumpkins must be peeled and cooked for spicy pies, although I must admit I use pumpkin out of the can. It is much easier that way. As I tell The Farmer when I discontinue many of the things I used to do, I am suffering from the energy crisis . . . my own.

Suet pudding must be steamed and wrapped to age for that just-right flavor. Candies are made beforehand . . . in fact anything that can be done early in the pre-Christmas season is completed.

I have surprised myself by making the first of our candy . . . a gum-drop variety that must stand several days to dry slowly. The pieces have been cut into squares, coated with sugar as they must be several times while drying and now I am in the waiting stage. As the situation now stands, I think they will turn out to be perfect . . . something that doesn't always happen when I try a new recipe for the first time. Usually I have to make at least one trial recipe before I get a product that is satisfactory to me.

One morning after a night of freezing rain and drizzle, we awakened to find a heavy coating of ice on the trees. It was a thing of beauty to walk out into the crystal fairyland. The wind was almost non-existent so no harm was done to the trees and shrubs.

When the sun warmed the air, the ice-coated trees crackled like broken glass. Ice shattering to the ground splintered into glistening bits, sounding like marvelous fairy music.

Sounds floated distinctly through the chill resonant air. Somewhere near I heard the ruffled flutter of a pheasant's wings. Farther away I heard the click, click of a squirrel and the brash saucy answer of a blue-jay And still farther away I heard the lowing of cattle as they waited patiently for their morsel of hay. Somewhere over the hill a car roared, unable to climb to the top because of the icy surface of the road.

It was a preview of wintry days to come, days when the ice and snow will be much deeper than they are now . . days when the temperature will be sub-zero . . . days when I say, "Let's move to Florida. My pace over the warm sifting sand of the beaches would be much more enjoyable than over the slick, ice-covered sidewalks here at home."

☆ ☆ ☆

Now that the holiday baking has begun, I think about my mother making Danish coffee cakes with cardamom added for a distinct flavor I can see her breaking the pearly shells open to reveal the small jet black seeds. Then she crushed them very fine and added them to the rich dough.

The flavor of the cardamom always carried through the coffee cakes with distinct flavor.

I have tried using the powdered cardamom but it just doesn't add the taste the freshly crushed seeds do. Consequently I find myself with pearly soft shells awaiting the time when I can spare a few odd moments and open them. The pungent odor is so taste-tingling that I can scarcely wait to get to baking a coffee cake, fresh with raisins and goodies that make home-baked food so delicious.

I know I will have to bake several of these for they will never last long enough so that I can get them wrapped and put in the deep-freeze for Christmas. Well, maybe that is what Christmas is about, too something specially baked to be eaten during the holiday season and enjoyed within the walls of a home at leisure when the wind blows cold and fierce outside and warmth and contentment reign inside.

Dutton Will Play

Omaha, Neb.

It has been announced that John Dutton, all-American football player at Nebraska U., will play in the Cotton Bowl. His eligibility status was somewhat cloudy up to a day or so ago. Now the coach has made it official: John will play because, somehow, he has seen the error of his ways in a dispute with the coaching staff over training regulations.

While he will lose his "captaincy," Mr. Dutton will play. It is too bad, indeed, that young people of the caliber and ability of this fine player fail to realize that they must abide by the rules of discipline that are so imperative to a well-run organization, be it a football team, a school, a corporation, or simply the home.

It is to the credit of Coach Osborne that some form of discipline was meted out in this case. Similar measures should have been taken in previous and more serious cases at the university, viz. football players.

Young people need and want discipline. All of us must abide by disciplinary standards — rules, regulations, laws, time schedules, etc. It is our hope that, in this case, the young man will learn a lesson that he should carry on into the pro ranks lest he is ostracized by his peers and by the public. May his companions at N.U., likewise, profit by his experience.

Is It True?

Lincoln, Neb.

Is it true that President Nixon signed Executive Order 11490, which permits the president of the United States the power to declare a national emergency and then has the power to order the executive branch of the government to:

(1) take over all communications media.
(2) seize all sources of power.
(3) take charge of all food resources.
(4) seize all forms of transportation.
(5) control all highways and seaports.
(6) seize all railroads, inland waterways, airports, and storage facilities.
(7) commandeer all civilians to work under federal supervision.
(8) control all activities relating to health, education and welfare.
(9) shift any segment of the population from one locality to another.
(10) take over farms, ranches and timbered property.
(11) regulate the amount of your own money you may withdraw from your bank or savings and loan institutions.

What We Need

Bennet, Neb.

In spite of inflation, we have much to be thankful for We must remember that most of our troubles, we bring on ourselves. One of the causes of inflation is over-consumption. We eat too much, drink too much, wear too much — except the teenagers — and travel too much.

We like abundance but it contributes to the ills that afflict us. The young especially are encouraged to self-indulgence. At age 16, they must have a car, at 21 an apartment of their own. Maybe the oil-controlling Arabs will help us to learn self-denial. Sacrifice is the very essence of discipline.

If we refuse, we may end up like the people in Russia and China — the real harsh way

The crisis in Washington is also rough but it might be just what we need to save our democracy

The Obstacles

Lincoln, Neb.

I've never taken a correspondence course or attended college. If anyone ever told me that to become a success in this country means "getting a good education," I'd be tempted to answer, "Why?"

Education is an obstacle course. It takes just a little longer to get where the other fellow started. If there is such a thing as predestination, you're a failure or success when you're born.

Katherine Hepburn was discovered wearing overalls, sitting on the curb in front of a movie studio. Her acting is superb. Lana Turner was sipping sodas in a drug store when Hollywood talent scouts nabbed her. None was from acting schools or even the Pasadena Playhouse. But that was when movies were a business.

America has allowed race, color and creed to become obstacles, by forcing its first-class citizens to take pot luck with any tramp who can stew up a concoction of lies and political harangue from his own ridiculous misconceptions of law and ethics. Even paid officials think it's a Roman holiday

Aging Mao Remains Powerful World Force

WASHINGTON — Rumor has it that he smokes like a chimney, drinks like a fish, works weird hours, and cannot control his hand and lip movements. That may or may not be true. It is beyond dispute, however, that he is the third most powerful man on earth after Richard M. Nixon and Leonid I. Brezhnev. He is, of course, Mao Tse-tung, leader of the People's Republic of China, who shortly will celebrate his 80th birthday anniversary.

Mao is even more of a fabulous invalid than is the Broadway stage. In the early phase of the Great Proletarian Cultural Revolution, reports of the chairman's death reached the West. But Hsinhua, the Chinese news agency, said on July 25, 1966, that Mao had swum "an hour and five minutes and covered a distance of 15 kilometers in the Yangtze River" nine days earlier.

To buttress that claim, the Chinese government released a photograph showing Mao and four others in the water and another of the chairman wearing a bathrobe and waving from a launch. Soviet Sport, a Russian newspaper, noted wryly that Mao's time, 65 minutes for 9.3 miles, was considerably better than the world record. The paper invited Mao to take part in the next international swimming competition.

Few people are poking fun at Mao Tse-tung as he nears his ninth decade of life, still very much in control of the world's most populous country. He weathered the Cultural Revolution as handily as any previous crisis, and his international stature has never been higher. President Nixon's trip to China in 1972 was considered a diplomatic triumph for him — but it was no less so for Mao, his host.

Still, the Chinese-American detente is little more than a marriage of convenience at this stage. In the customary joint editorial carried on New Year's Day in Peking by the People's Daily, Red Flag and Liberation Army Daily, it was proclaimed a year ago: "The present international situation is excellent . . . The small and medium-sized countries are uniting on a broader scale in opposition to the hegemonism and power politics of the two superpowers, the United States and the Soviet Union."

Because of the recent dramatic shift in Chinese-American relations, a number of historians have been playing the game of what-might-have-been. In an essay published last year by Foreign Affairs, Barbara Tuchman recalled that Mao and Chou En-lai had offered, in January, 1945, to confer with President Roosevelt in Washington.

The offer was ignored, but what if it had been accepted? Tuchman wrote that ". . . it is conceivable that there might have been no Korean War with all its evil consequences. From that war rose the twin specters of an expansionist Chinese communism and an indivisible Sino-Soviet partnership. Without those two concepts to addle statesmen and nourish demagogues, our history, our present, and our future would have been different. We might not have come to Vietnam."

Both China and the United States have suffered their share of internal upheavals since 1945. But through it all Mao Tse-tung has kept a tight hold on what the Chinese call the mandate of heaven. And if he lives until next October, he will preside over the 25th anniversary of the People's Republic he founded.

The Limits Of Power

WASHINGTON — One clear lesson of this extraordinary year is that strong nations, and strong institutions within nations, have more power than they dare use, but some people still haven't learned the lesson.

It is plain for all to read:

— The United States obviously had the power to destroy North Vietnam, but preferred to compromise rather than face the consequences of the slaughter.

— The Soviet Union clearly had missiles which the North Vietnamese could have used to blow every American aircraft carrier out of the South China Sea along the Vietnam coast, but like the United States, Moscow limited its power.

— In the Middle East, the Israelis had the tanks and aircraft to destroy Damascus and even Cairo, and again the Russians could have given Egypt missiles that could have wiped out Tel Aviv or even Jerusalem, but everybody had enough common sense to hold back.

— Here in Washington, the Nixon administration is in terrible trouble precisely because it didn't limit its power in the political wars of 1972, but resorted to burglary, espionage, sabotage, forgery, extortion, and perjury to achieve its political ends, and cover them up.

Even so, the leaders of the Arab world, which invented philosophy, seem to have missed the philosophic point. They have come late into the world of power politics, and now think they can use the power of oil to compel the big industrial nations, who need their oil, to lean on Israel.

It is a bold tactic. It amounts to saying that the oil-producing states of the world will suffer with unemployment, and even economic and social chaos unless they support the Arab cause against Israel. Britain is already on a three-day work week, Japan is in deep industrial trouble, Europe is divided and the United States is changing its whole way of life because of the oil shortage — but never mind, this will make them all help the Arabs against Israel!

So far the Arab strategy has worked. Industrial Western Europe and Japan have sided with the Arab states, and even Secretary of State Kissinger has been urging the Israelis to withdraw roughly to the borders they held before the 1967 war.

But Kissinger is also pleading with the leaders of the Arab nations not to press their advantage too far, to limit their power, as the United States and the Soviet Union did in Vietnam, and work in the Geneva Peace Conference for a compromise. Meanwhile, he is urging the Israelis to withdraw from the territories they conquered in the 1967 war, and rely on the United States to guarantee recognized and secure Israeli borders.

No American secretary of state in this century has had a more difficult assignment. He is asking Israel to make concessions for peace they have never been willing to make in the past, and asking the Arab nations to lift their oil boycott and give the Geneva Peace Conference a chance.

The Arab nations, however, are still counting on power. They are offering a deal to the United States: force Israel to withdraw to the pre-1967 borders and guarantee their withdrawal, and then we will give you oil. Otherwise, if no withdrawal, or guarantees of withdrawal, no oil.

☆ ☆ ☆

What is very odd about this is not only that the Arab states have not learned the lesson of limiting their power, but that they have won their main battle and don't seem to know it. By withholding their oil, they have compelled the United States, Europe and Japan to insist on the withdrawal of Israel from territory captured in the 1967 war. This has always been Washington's policy — to support U.N. Security Council Resolution 242 — and this is what Kissinger is still advocating.

Kissinger has asked the Arab leaders to do a very simple thing: to lift the oil embargo when they go to Geneva, not to ask the United States to negotiate under duress. In practical terms, this is not a major suggestion. Even if the Arabs agreed to lift the embargo, it would take weeks, and maybe even months, to get the oil flowing again at normal levels.

But the Arabs are making it very hard. Syria is refusing to go to the Geneva Peace Conference. President Sadat of Egypt is saying he won't negotiate directly with the Israelis. The Palestinians are shooting up American planes and murdering civilians to call attention to their grievances. In sum, they are relying on power, violence and even blackmail to influence the major powers and the Geneva Peace Conference.

Maybe these power tactics will work, but that is not the way things have gone in recent years. The lesson is that power can't be pushed too far, either in Vietnam, Berlin, or Watergate, but that it has to be controlled and limited so that compromises and accommodations can be reached. Unfortunately, neither the Israelis nor the Arabs seem to have accepted that lesson in the Middle East.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Reader Contends Wife Is Too Thrifty

By ROBERT PETERSON

Question: — "We've just passed 40 and have been married a dozen years. We both work in civil service jobs and have no children. Our real hitch is that my wife is too thrifty and keeps saying she won't settle for second-best. As a result, we've waited too long to have a baby because she always said she didn't want one until she could afford to quit working. We live in a rented one-bedroom apartment because she says she doesn't want us to buy a home until we can afford a decent one — which by her definition means a brick, three-bedroom home in a nice suburban neighborhood. We don't own a car because she says if she can't go on an ocean cruise or to someplace like Hawaii she'd rather stay home. We've got a nice nestegg built up but she says it's not enough. What can you do with someone like this?"

Answer: — You need to assert some male dominance and alter her sense of priorities. It's great to put some of one's dreams on cold storage, pending the time we can really afford them. But it's later than we think. Life is short and uncertain and it's foolish to delay all gratification. Start preaching the philosophy that it's wiser to have something than nothing. If she won't go along start tapping that nestegg yourself and treat yourself to a few goodies.

Question: — "I've heard of both women and some men who dislike revealing their age. But have you heard of a woman who gets upset when someone asks the age of her deceased husband? One of my neighbors named Alice was married to a man much older, although I never knew how much older. When he died last week I phoned to extend my sympathy and in the course of talking asked how old he was. She snapped 'It shouldn't matter how old he was and I wish people would quit asking.' With that she hung up. Several of my friends got the same treatment. What's the matter with her anyway?"

Answer: — In the wake of death people often act in an oversensitive, irrational manner. Apparently your friend has an obsession about age and is one of those who regards it as a highly personal fact which is no one else's business. Society's long-standing veneration for youth and disdain for age has spawned this unfortunate attitude, instead of a healthier attitude in which age is considered something to be proud of.

Question: — "You wrote recently that some older people have been slow in offering to serve as hospital volunteers. But why should we work? I'm 73 and retired from half a century as a railroad conductor. I performed thousands of acts of kindness over those years, and had little or no time for a home life, for reading or sitting in my backyard at home. Why can't I just enjoy retirement without some ninny telling me to spread cheer and sunshine?"

Answer: — Nobody's saying you've got to do anything you don't want to do. I was merely talking about the great needs that exist for volunteers, and suggesting that there were plenty of charitable opportunities for older people who were bored silly and wanted something more constructive to do than watch reruns on TV.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

☆ By SIDNEY OMARR ☆

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Promises involving money should be backed by action. Otherwise, hold back. Don't commit funds to program which has been moribund. Plan and organize. Assume responsibility. Dig beneath surface indications.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Hold off on making rigid assertions. Keep position flexible. Best now to finish rather than to initiate projects. Past efforts begin to show results. You have chance to move up ladder, but steps must be slow and sure.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You gain confidence. You feel that your own abilities are worth plenty. That is fine — but you also will attract some envy, resentment. Those who work with you may feel threatened. Know it and open lines of communication.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Test, experiment. Highlight creativity. Be versatile enough to use material at hand. Sagittarius, Gemini persons could play key roles.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): One who seems to oppose is on edge of reaching agreement. Know it and don't sell yourself short. You can successfully complete important project. There are some revisions in order — they work to your ultimate advantage.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Take special care in discussions with relatives. Promise could be extracted which you cannot fulfill. Aquarius, Leo and Scorpio persons may be involved. Short trip is on agenda. Check calls, reservations and messages.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Changes could result in profit. Be ready to pounce on opportunity. Show others that you are able to progress with the times. Member of opposite sex plays important role. You receive encouragement but you will have to make first move.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Lunar cycle is such that you can deal successfully with persons of means. You get to heart of matters. Those who have experience will flash green light. You will be delighted by reception from persons whose mere presence could have intimidated you in past.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Refine techniques. Select quality. You could receive opportunity to work with media. Your views should be articulated. You might be chosen as representative of group, club, organization. Pisces, Virgo persons may be in picture.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Money questions are resolved and you are chief beneficiary. What you asked for is received — with it comes added pressure and responsibility. Know it and be grown up about it. Older individual makes room at top for you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Element of timing works in your favor. Intuitive flash provides uncanny sense of direction. Emphasis is on achievement, goal-oriented philosophy. Aries, Libra persons could figure in prominent way.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Tread softly. Strive for equilibrium. You gain greater insight. You receive valid offer. You could publish, spread views and enjoy more recognition. Long-distance communication heralds chance for more meaningful lifestyle.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are warm, sympathetic, moody and creative. You have "sad eyes" but a happy heart. You are no angel but you have knack of reaching out and touching people. You can be a source of inspiration. You are loyal, somewhat selfish and 1974 will mark a time of achievement and more money.

Chamber Supports Daylight Savings Time

By The Associated Press

Gov. J. James Exon says he has not determined his position on daylight saving time as it might affect Nebraska, but the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce wants no exemptions for Eastern Nebraska.

The chamber board voted in favor of Nebraska following the remainder of the nation in switching to DST Jan. 6 as prescribed in an energy-conservation act passed by Congress and signed by the President.

"We don't want Lincoln, Omaha and Eastern Nebraska operating an hour behind Chicago and two hours later than New York," said chamber member Leo Beck, reflecting chamber opinion.

State officials who have sought information from Washington on the options open to Nebraska said Wednesday the picture is not yet clear. But it was believed that a state such as Nebraska, which lies in two time zones, has one option which would have the effect of placing the entire state on the same clock settings.

Western Nebraska is in the mountain time zone; Eastern and Central Nebraska, in the central time zone. When it's 4 p.m. in Omaha, it's 3 p.m. in Scottsbluff.

Under the option as tentatively understood, the legislature could leave Nebraska's easternmost time zone — the central time zone — on standard time, while the mountain zone would go on daylight time. In effect, then, Nebraska's central time zone would be on mountain daylight saving time, and a clock in Scottsbluff and a clock in Omaha would show the same time.

Another option apparently involves petitioning the President for some type of exemption, but details of this option still were not known here.

"We are trying to figure out what all of our options are right now," said Exon. "We certainly don't want to make any decisions before we know what we can do, and how."

Exon said he has discussed the issue with some community leaders and seeks even more feedback from Nebraskans.

In the absence of any action, Nebraskans statewide would move their clocks ahead one hour effective Jan. 6, in line with the remainder of the nation.

Because the Legislature does not convene until Jan. 1, it would be hard pressed to introduce and pass before Jan. 6 a bill altering the state's DST positions.

The speaker of the legislature, Sen. Richard Proud of Omaha, said Wednesday he would not want the lawmakers to act hastily on DST "unless it's very critical." He said he already has received some calls on the subject.

9 Reformatory Inmates Gain Parole

By United Press International

The State Parole Board Wednesday granted paroles to nine reformatory inmates and deferred action on two others.

The board will meet Thursday to consider state prison inmate parole requests.

Deferred by the board Wednesday were Gerald Henderson, 22, of Omaha and Tyrone Paul Pride, 20, of Omaha.

Henderson is serving a 1-2 year sentence on a Douglas County District Court burglary conviction while Pride is serving 2 years for a Douglas County drug possession conviction.

Those granted paroles (listing home of record, crime convicted of, county where convicted, sentence and date of sentence) included:

Douglas C. Johnson, 19, Fremont, delivery of controlled substance, Dodge County, 1-2 years, 1973.

Doug Wagner, 22, Fremont, delivering controlled substance, dodge, 1-2 years, 1973.

Jeffrey Roy Barrett, 20, Omaha, assault with intent to commit rape, Douglas County, 2-3 years, 1972.

Richard Richtig, 22, Omaha, burglary, Douglas County, 2-4 years, 1972.

Robert Glagavs, 30, Minnesota, Grand Larceny and failure to support a child Lancaster, 1-3 years, 1972.

Donal Parkhurst, 49, Michigan, obtaining money by false pretences and insufficient funds check Lancaster, 2-4 years, 1972.

Harold Alva Williams, 36, Lincoln, robbery, Lancaster 10 years, 1968.

Jerry L. Haskings, 20, North Carolina, larceny from a person Sarpy, 1-3 years, 1973.

Ronald M. Love, 21, New York, larceny from a person, Sarpy, 1-3 years, 1973.

Israeli Soldiers Sent 'Playboys'

TEL AVIV (AP) — Three thousand copies of Playboy magazine, nude centerfold and all, are en route to Israeli soldiers who were wounded in the October war.

Mrs. Ephraim Katzir, wife of the Israeli president, requested the shipment of the men's magazine in a recent conversation with U.S. Ambassador Kenneth Keating.

The American Embassy said the magazines were dispatched from Playboy's London office.

'Peace' License Plate Goes To Jolly Old Elf

The State Department of Motor Vehicles ran into a jolly, but hard to please, customer.

John L. Sullivan, chief of the department, says a one-of-a-kind, specialized, personalized license plate had to be issued to "a very jolly fat gentleman in red clothes, black boots and a white beard."

Sullivan said the Jolly Old Elf was a bit hard to please, and the department worked with him at length to pick a license plate for use on Christmas Eve and Christmas Day.

Sullivan said the department's visiting dignitary looked over personalized plates which read "J-O-LLY," and "SAN-TA," but finally settled on one that said "PEACE."

"He left urging that we drive with care, and wished us all a Merry Christmas," Sullivan said.

W. German Jet Crashes In India

New Delhi, India (UPI) — A West German Lufthansa Boeing 707 jetliner carrying 109 passengers and crew crashed Thursday at New Delhi's Palam Airport. No one was killed.

The news agency Press Trust of India said the jetliner apparently caught fire as it approached the airport and crash landed.

A Lufthansa spokesman in Cologne, West Germany, said 10 persons suffered slight injuries and the aircraft was heavily damaged. He said there were 98 passengers on board the plane, which was en route from Tokyo to Frankfurt.

Survey: 73% Doubt Nixon's Effectiveness

By LOUIS HARRIS

By 73% to 21%, the American people overwhelmingly agree with the statement that President Nixon "has lost so much credibility that it will be hard for him to be accepted as President again." However, the proposition that "he has reached the point where he can no longer be an effective President and should resign for the good of the country" is rejected by a razor-thin 45-44% with 11% unable to make up their minds.

One reason for this hesitancy on the part of the public to pass final judgment on the President is the 56-36% majority who feels "he is trying to do his best in an almost impossible job." And the public has by no means written off Richard Nixon's leadership capabilities, especially in the sphere of foreign affairs.

A Harris Survey conducted in mid-November among a nationwide cross section of 1,493 households found the following:

— By 82-12%, an overwhelming majority agees that "he is not afraid to take decisive action, as in his trips to Peking and Moscow and in his recent handling of the Middle East war."

Louis Harris

Credibility Loss Cited

— By 72-20%, people feel that Nixon is "experienced and smart, especially in foreign affairs." This compares with the 71-17% who agreed with that statement in July 1972.

— By 52-41%, a majority agrees that the President "is right to say it is more important for him to spend his time working for the country than to be trying to find out what happened in the Watergate affair."

If this were all there were to report about the American people's views of their President today, then it might be fairly concluded that Richard Nixon has retained the essential ingredients to sustain himself as a viable Chief Executive. But the erosion of trust caused by Watergate has seriously undermined that hope. And the President's standing on other key domestic issues offers him little consolation.

— By 63-29%, a majority agrees with the statement that "with the Watergate mess, he is no longer able to give the country the moral leadership it needs."

— By 72-24%, the people agree with the charge that "he has not done an effective job in controlling rises in the cost of living," up from the 58-35% who felt that way in February of this year.

— By 64-21%, a majority feels "he and the Republicans are too close to big business," up from the 55-29% who felt that way in September 1972.

— By 49-33%, a plurality feels that "he spends too much time alone, away from the White House, and sees too few people." Back in February of this year, this charge was dismissed by 49-35%.

— By 51-33%, they also refuse to believe that President Nixon is "being unfairly blamed for things his aides did, which he didn't know about."

— By a much closer 46-43%, they reject the idea that "he has been the victim of unfair attacks by the news media."

Thus, the majority of the American people has been badly shaken by the Watergate episode. Yet the public draws back from the critical "impeach or resign" position. In this critical period, Nixon is somewhat sustained by his reputation on foreign affairs and the public belief that he enjoys the training and experience necessay in a President. But Nixon's reservoir of personal trust is devastatingly low, and, in the end, his ability to restore public confidence will inevitably decide his future as a viable national leader.

NWU Students Wind Up First Semester Activities

Nebraska Wesleyan University students wind up first semester activities this week. Final examinations are currently underway and with the last examination period set for 2:30 Friday.

Most Interim classes begin Jan. 2.

Second semester classes will begin Jan. 14. Dormitories will open for the second semester on Jan. 12 at 2 p.m., one day earlier than originally announced, so that students who return by car will not have to drive on Sunday.

Administrative offices will be closed for the Christmas holiday Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 24-25, and for the New Year's holiday, Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 31-Jand 1.

Elder Gallery in the Fine Arts Center will be closed until Jan. 16. Cochrane-Woods Library will be closed Dec. 22-25; Dec. 29-Jan. 1; Jan. 5-6, and 12 and 13. Hours when it is open during the interim between semesters are 8-5. Regular hours resume Jan. 14 with the start of second semester classes.

'The Wind Shifting West'

books by Cynthia Johnson

Shirley Ann Grau is an immensely talented writer.

Her reputation as such has been established over a period of two decades by a series of books which includes the Pulitzer prize-winning "The Keepers Of The House," and the less-acclaimed but brilliant, "The Condor Passes."

The recent publication of "The Wind Shifting West" (Knopf) — a collection of short stories — confirms that reputation, although Ms. Grau, like so many other authors, appears to do better over a long-haul than when her narrative is limited to ten or 12 pages.

There are, however, amidst the 18 stories, at least two jewels.

"The Patriarch" is a brilliantly-executed piece in which the narrator is an 88-year-old gentleman of considerable wealth and an appealing outlook on life.

A hedonist of sorts, Edward Milton Henley is one of these flesh and blood characters that Ms. Grau is so adept at creating. Were he to rise up off the pages and totter across the room, the reader would not be so much surprised as glad to have the chance to talk with him.

With cynnical charm he surveys the landscape of his heaped up years, commenting on the major events and people that have come his way — most notably his several wives and all the other "two-legged annoyances who have passed through my bed."

Those annoyances had a regular habit of becoming mere memories. But what memories!

"I can't claim Eleanor as a mistake of my youth; I was thirty-two when we married. She was plump even then, or so I seem to remember. At the end of a marriage it is difficult to recall the beginning. In ten years, oh, how she grew, how she puffed, how she threatened to fill my world."

Shirley Ann Grau

After four score and eight years, Mr. Henley's quantifiable legacy consists of left-over money (lots of it — to be used for philanthropy); and a somewhat stuffy son who became a Unitarian minister, begat two children ("A wretched number," his father says. "I once told his wife that to have two children was the sobbing end of shabby gentility."), and is somewhat flummoxed at the apparent fullness of his father's rakish life.

Ah, Mr. Henley, would that you had gone on for two hundred more pages!

Another rather outlandish character is the focal point of "The Lovely April" — a whimsical tale of extraordinary appeal.

Claiming, at one point to be one of "the little people," Mr. Robin — the story's hero — "did strange things sometimes, especially in the spring." Like painting his face green, and going to church with a pancake and a fried egg perched neatly atop his head under his derby.

A delightful story, not in keeping with the tone of the rest of the book. But welcome.

All of the stories reflect a wide-ranging experience — or perhaps it is just a sensitivity — on the part of the author.

Each is different from the other. But each is born of that same ability, reflected in all of Ms. Grau's work, to capture a moment, a feeling, crystallize it and explore it with a few tersely poetic phrases.

Further, Ms. Grau is completely at ease in her writing. She never interposes herself between the reader and the narrative — and, especially where short stories are concerned, that is something of a feat.

With the exception of a few instances, "The Wind Shifting West" serves to confirm this writer's opinion that, when it comes to storytelling, Ms. Grau is one of the best in the business.

Women Offenders

Crime Statistics Are Up

By LINDA OLIG
Star Staff Writer

Call her Jane Doe, or the female offender, or . . .

Whatever name you apply to the sum total of women arrested for the commission of crimes, the statistics speak loudly enough.

And they are saying that there are more females breaking the laws these days.

The types of crimes they are committing are changing.

They are responsible for more and more crimes of violence against persons and against property. And they are arrested more frequently for alcohol and drug abuse.

That female offenses are taking a marked upswing is shown by Nebraska Crime Commission and Lincoln Police Department records.

A total of 653 women 18 years and over were arrested for offenses in Lincoln in 1972. Compared to 450 arrests of females in 1971, that is an increase of nearly 45%.

The crime rate for juvenile females increased more than 28% during the same time period. The number of young women contacted during 1971 was 680 compared to 873 in 1972.

Female arrests increased 15.2% across the state from calendar year 1971, when 6,284 females of all ages were arrested, to 1972, when 7,238 were contacted for crimes. The juvenile crime rate rose 10.9%.

Among the most noticeable increases were violations of narcotics laws — an increase of 79.5% overall statewide (93% for juveniles) and nearly 300% for Lincoln women.

Lincoln and state records show that alcohol-related crimes also increased between 1971 and 1972.

More females were arrested for violation of liquor laws in Nebraska in 1972 than for any other single offense, with larceny running a close second. Shoplifting is the larceny most commonly attributed to women both across the state and in Lincoln.

Two factors may be contributing to the increase in crime among women and to the change in types of crimes committed, according to Lincoln Policewoman Catherine Riggle.

She points to the increased use of alcohol and drugs as well as increased awareness, possibly "women's liberation," as factors leading to more female arrests.

"Society always has held women to submissive roles in the past," she said. Since that role model has declined in popularity, "women have an excuse to do what they want . . . they have to prove they are equal to men . . . they also are out in the world more."

As for juveniles, Mrs. Riggle said that "sex, smoking (of narcotics) and shoplifting may be rites of passage to the adult world."

Adolescent crime also may be the result of peer group pressure and the attempt to create "their own adolescent culture . . . a rebellion against the established system of values.

"They are trying to prove they don't have to live within the rules and structures of the adult world . . . to establish a new value system," she said.

The policewoman also said that young persons' contempt for large corporations and government is reflected in what she calls a "share-the-wealth plan," whereby adolescents "rip off" or shoplift, an item from a large store and then proudly display their find to their peers, showing "no remorse . . . no concern." The peers, in turn, present "no outward signs of disapproval of the act," she said.

Anti-Rape Measures Are Effective

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

New York (UPI) — Last year, nearly 50,000 forcible rapes were reported in the United States.

Any female who ever is home alone or travels unescorted — on foot or by car — should know about measures to safeguard against rape.

The suggestion comes from the Indianapolis Women United Against Rape and the Indianapolis Police Department. An anti-rape plan in that city has resulted in a reduction of rapes. The Chamber of Commerce of the United States has asked its members to study the Indianapolis plan.

Indianapolis ranks fourth lowest in the nation, when you look at rape statistics. The Women United says the 239 forcible rapes in that city since Jan. 1 are 239 too many. "One is too many," says Mary Anne Butters, head of the Mayor's Task Force on Women.

In the most recent analysis, the Indianapolis rape rate was 5.8 per 100,000 of population. This compares to a rate of 22.3 for New York, 37.5 for Detroit, 39.8 for Washington, 41.3 for St. Louis, and even higher for Denver and Los Angeles, Women United reports.

A key weapon in the anti-rape campaign is a pamphlet telling females how to combat rape. In it is a blueprint for action if attacked.

"Get a good look at the attacker. Remember his description. Check his height with your own. Check his approximate age, hair color, unusual marks or scars, mannerisms, language, phraseology and conduct.

"If he is in a car, note the license, color, make, damage, direction of approach and escape.

"Do anything you can to make the situation intolerable for him. Yell, kick, slip out of coat, strike, throw your purse, run, knock on a door, enter a business, or, if in your car, blow the horn."

If raped, the victim is told to call police at once and give all the details.

Anti-rape measures for women walking, driving or alone at home:

—Walking. At night, look around to see if you are being followed. If someone suspicious is behind you, cross the street. Walk near the curb; shun dark doorways, shrubbery.

—Driving. Travel on well-lighted, busy streets. Keep windows rolled up and doors locked. Do not leave your purse on seat. Keep car in gear while halted at traffic lights and stop signs. If your safety is threatened, hold down on the horn and drive away as soon as possible. Should your car become disabled in an isolated spot, raise the hood and sit inside with doors locked until assistance comes.

—At home. Live alone? List only last name and initial on mailbox and in phone book.

Install and use chain locks or a peep-hole. When a stranger asks to use your phone, do not permit him to enter. Should wrong number calls be received, never reveal your name or address or admit you are alone. Keep windows secured. Draw window shades after dark. Never remain in an apartment house laundry room alone.

'And One Freak Bought Both'

By RAY HOWARD
(c) 1973, Chicago Sun-Times

Coca-Cola, which calls itself "The Real Thing," has been running an anti-inflation campaign on the big tube. They have been spending jillions of dollars telling you about their big new economy bottle called "The Crowd Pleaser."

According to the commercials, the Crowd Pleaser gives you the best buy you can get in Coke.

Fine and good. But how are all you inflation-weary Coke drinkers taking to the new Coca-Cola economy campaign?

To find out, I ran down to the local supermarket and loitered around the end-of-aisle Coke display. There was a big sign. "Coca-Cola. Big 48-Ounce Bottle Only 39 Cents!"

Right next to it was another sign, "Eight-pack Coke $1.40." It was hung on a display containing packages of eight 12-ounce Coke cans.

I whipped out my pocket calculator and compared the two Coke values. On a per-ounce basis, 12-ounce canned Coca-Cola was 82% more expensive than Crowd-Pleaser Coke. A fantastic difference in the cost of Coke.

The inflation-weary consumer would just have to snap up the bottles right?

Don't be too sure.

A gal in straight hair and embroidered jeans swung by, ignored the bottles and deftly lifted an eight-pack into her basket. She was gone before I could ask her about food inflation and all that jazz.

A sturdy-looking woman, wearing babushka and droopy ankle socks, stopped her basket and examined both the bottle and cans. Then she reached for the eight-pack and plumped it into her basket.

I asked her why she bought cans when they were more expensive. "Husband like cans," she grunted. Gloria Steinem loses another.

A cool cat in high heels and suede jacket hummed by. He ignored the bottles and picked the eight-pack. When I asked him about value, he looked astonished. Then he enlightened me. "My bird doesn't like to wash the glasses." Then he was gone. If he was ever there.

Along came a nice, middle-American woman who might have just stepped out of a commercial. She passed by the bottle and picked up the eight-pack. I was shocked and said so.

She smiled and explained, "Oh, I know the bottle is the better value. But the children tend to spill and mess up the kitchen when they pour from a bottle. So it is easier on mother to let them each have a can of their own."

A second mother picked up three eight-packs and explained, "I've got three energetic teenagers and they drink tons of the stuff. But they will only drink it if I bring it home in cans."

When I explained that she could buy the same tons of stuff in bottles for about half the price, she smiled sweetly and pushed on.

Four women said their children liked to drink Coke after school. The mothers preferred cans because they could be thrown away and didn't mess up the kitchen.

Altogether, 20 shoppers bought Coke while I was making the survey. The score? Twelve bought the expensive cans, seven bought economy bottles and one freak bought both.

Now I don't know whether the average Coca-Cola drinker is representative of the general population or not. But if they are, you consumers are really not hurting all that much over the food inflation.

Because all you people who bought canned Coke last week created your own private 82-per cent inflation.

And that's one you can't blame on Nixon.

BRIDGE

Bidding Quiz

By B. JAY BECKER

You are South, neither side vulnerable. The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
1 ♦	Dble	Redble	?

What would you bid now with each of the following five hands?

1. ♠6 ♥J963 ♦J754 ♣8732
2. ♠KJ53 ♥KJ53 ♦10 ♣J984
3. ♠KJ87642 ♥8 ♦73 ♣542
4. ♠953 ♥Q962 ♦72 ♣Q763
5. ♠K62 ♥QJ754 ♦A43 ♣85

1. One heart. Whether to bid over a redouble is more a matter of logic than convention. A pass merely shows that it is not convenient to bid, while a bid merely shows that it is not convenient to pass.

Here, the aim of the heart bid is to avoid a potentially awkward situation that could arise if you were to pass and North bid a spade, your worst suit. The heart bid does not promise any specific values; it can be based on heart length or the obligation to keep partner out of trouble. The bid is not forcing.

2. Pass. This is a good hand opposite a takeout double; in fact, there is a fair chance for a game. But there is no need to respond at this point, since North has a bid coming and you can then very well support any suit he names.

3. Three spades. This is by no means a strong bid; it merely shows spade length and limited high-card strength. Partner is expected to pass unless he has values in excess of a minimum double. While the chief purpose of the three spade bid is to hamper the opponents, it also has the advantage of picturing substantial offensive strength if spades are trumps.

4. Pass. Here it is better to let North seek his own salvation. You can't be sure which suit should be trump and you therefore let partner make the choice. You're at least moderately prepared for any suit partner chooses as trump.

Note the difference between this hand and the first one. There the hearts were named because of the danger that partner, left to his own devices, might bid spades. Here there is no reason to fear such an eventuality.

5. Two hearts. This time you apprize partner of game possibilities by jumping to two hearts, thus announcing a good hand and good hearts. This is a strong bid, compared to a jump to three hearts, which would be preemptive. Whether two hearts is forcing is debatable, but that question shouldn't bother you here since, if partner were to pass, game would be highly doubtful.

Use It Or You'll Lose It

dear abby

DEAR ABBY: A lady professor came out with the statement that it is silly to teach arithmetic because now we have calculators to do the job. She says she takes one to the grocery store with her.

While grocery shopping this morning, I picked up a three-pound package of pork chops at 69 cents a pound, marked $2.97. If I hadn't known that 3 times 70 equals $2.10, I might have paid it.

When I pointed it out to the checkout girl, she said: "Oh, that crazy machine isn't working right again!"

Please tell people not to put too much confidence in machines. If they do, they're sure to get gypped.

M.L. IN GENEVA, OHIO

DEAR M.L.: Good thinking! The truism, "If you don't use it, you'll lose it," applies to the brain, too.

DEAR ABBY: May I answer that 45-year-old woman who survived breast cancer, and inquired about the possibility of having plastic surgery to replace the amputated breast, but she didn't want to appear "vain or silly"?

I had a breast removed, and later had reconstructive plastic surgery to make me "whole" again, and I can't tell you how much it did for my morale.

I am 50, and believe me, I'm no sexpot, and I also had a very understanding husband who tried to make me feel that I was still as beautiful and desirable as ever — regardless. But I had the operation for myself. I would encourage any woman who wants this type of surgery and is able to have it. Mine was done by Dr. Shattuck Hartwell of the Cleveland Clinic, and he was marvelous.

WHOLE AGAIN

DEAR WHOLE AGAIN: I think it's important to add that not all women who have had breast amputations are candidates for this type of surgery, but thank you for encouraging those who can.

DEAR ABBY: Have you ever heard of the superstition, "Three times a bridesmaid, never a bride"?

I have been a bridesmaid twice and am now engaged to be married next July. A girl friend of mine, who is being married in March has asked me to be a bridesmaid at her wedding, and I want to accept, but this superstition keeps coming to mind.

Everyone I've mentioned it to says I am foolish to let something like a superstition bother me, but if something happened to prevent my being a bride, I would never forgive myself. Frankly, being a bride is far more important to me than being a bridesmaid for a third time. What do you think I should do?

CAUGHT TWO BOUQUETS

DEAR CAUGHT: Feeling as you do, decline the invitation to be a bridesmaid.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 75-year-old gentleman with a lovely 21-year-old granddaughter who was recently married. Her mother in law, who appears to be between 55 and 60, says: "Hello, Grandpa," everytime we meet.

I do not object to my grandchildren calling me "Grandpa," but I do not wish this woman to address me in that manner.

The last time she called me "Grandpa," I called her "Grandma," and she quickly said: "Oh, no, not yet!"

I said, "Well, you're old enough to be one."

Without making an issue of it, how can I let this woman know that I do not wish for her to call me "Grandpa"?

A.K. IN CHICAGO

DEAR A.K.: Don't rely on your "Hello, Grandma" response to get the message to her. Simply tell her goodhumoredly that the right to call you "Grandpa" is reserved for your grandchildren.

Follow Cycle, Save Money

Sale conscious shoppers can save 15 to 30 per cent each year if they follow the annual sales cycle, according to University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension news release.

Retail stores across the nation generally follow a similar time cycle for their sales and specials.

Pre-Christmas promotions come in November, along with sales on women's coats and dresses. December sales will feature toys and gift items followed by after-Christmas clearances and specials on holiday cards and decorations.

But the lowest prices on cards and decorations comes in January along with the store-wide clearance sales. Furs, shoes, winter clothing, small appliances and air conditioners are normally marked down and special white sales on linens such as sheets, blankets, pillow cases and towels are common.

Furniture, rugs, mattresses, china, glassware and silver all go down in price during February, and March brings sales on garden supplies, housewares, spring clothing and luggage.

After-Easter reductions on women's coats, suits and accessories are the April bargains along with specials on men's and boy's clothing.

Cleaning and home repair supplies, some linens, lingerie and handbags are the specials during May. Women's clothing, televisions, refrigerators and fabrics are usually on sale during June.

July means specials on shoes, clothing, hosiery, bathing suits, refrigerators, washing machines, floor coverings, gardening supplies and used cars.

Furs, coats, furniture, gardening materials and linens all make repeat appearances at sales during August, along with specials on patio furniture.

Back-to-school specials on housewares, fabrics and clothing make the scene in September.

Remember when you're shopping any sale, it's wise to recognize the difference between needs and wants. Unless an item can serve a definite purpose, a bargain may not be a good buy.

Enjoy a Traditional

Human Rights Panel May Get M. Usher

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf said Wednesday he will recommend the appointment of Monroe Usher, Jr., to fill one of the seats on the Human Rights Commission.

Usher's name will be submitted to the City Council Monday in place of Arthur Knox's name. Knox was judged ineligible to serve on the commission since he lives outside the city limits.

Usher, 1920 Beatrice, is secretary-treasurer of Usher Pest Control Co.

Usher's name will be put in a resolution containing all nine appointees to the commission.

Schwartzkopf submitted nine names to the council last Monday, but city lawmakers expressed some displeasure over those names and the selection process.

Several council members said they wanted more information on how the mayor made his selection.

Councilwomen Helen Boosalis also questioned whether the new appointees represented a cross-section of the community.

Only one appointee, Jo Doris Bragg, is black.

The mayor reappointed seven holdover members from the old Human Rights Commission. In addition to Bragg, he appointed William Wilson, James Shelley, John Scott, Harry Allen, Carol Reilly and Francis Zegers.

The two new appointees were Knox, since declared ineligible, and Merlyn McLaughlin.

Councilman John Robinson questioned the selection process and said he might oppose some of the nine appointments.

Mayor Schwartzkopf said Wednesday, "I try to get somebody to do the best job and who will represent all the citizens."

Referring to several council members' criticisms of his appointees, the mayor emphatically stated, "I'll still continue to make the appointments and I have that authority under the charter. None of the council members will make them (the appointments)."

Gas Pumps Can Show Cost To Only 49.9 Cents

By The Associated Press

Higher gasoline prices promise shortages in motorists' wallets, but if the prices go over the 50-cent level, as they have in some areas, service stations will also face a small problem.

Most stations have pumps with price-per-gallon indicators that only go to 49.9-cents, according to Glenn Kreuscher, director of the Nebraska State Department of Agriculture.

Although it sounds like a problem, Kreuscher is recommending a simple solution.

Rather than going through the expensive procedure of changing the indicators, Kreuscher suggests switching to a half gallon purchase unit.

Under the plan, the price-per-gallon indicator would become a price-per-half-gallon indicator.

As an example, if the price per gallon is 54-cents, the indicator would read 27-cents per half gallon.

The pumps would be fixed to read per half gallon, and below the half-gallon price would be a label giving the motorist the price per gallon Kreuscher said.

If the system is put into effect, drivers, although they will be paying more, will have the consolation of seeing lower prices on the indicators.

The sight will be small solace.

Iowa Woman's Claim Is Tabled By State Board

A $1 million claim by an Iowa woman who claimed her son was killed in a car accident due to negligence on the part of the Department of Roads was tabled for two months Wednesday by the State Claims Board.

The decision to delay disposition of Mrs. Vera Brown's claim was made after Asst. Atty. Gen. Harry Salter said he wanted to further investigate the mishap. He said if the claim is eventually rejected it will likely go to court. In that event, he said he would like to be prepared to defend the state.

The Sioux City woman said the state had not posted warning signs on a highway construction project in Dixon County. Her son, Steven Brown, 21, was killed in a one-car accident July 21.

The board also rejected a $500,000 claim by a Seattle, Wash., woman who cited a similar situation to the Brown claim n which her husband was killed in 1971 on Hwy. 136 east of Filley.

Flights Sold Out But Vacancies Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's airlines say they could have empty seats on almost all of their flights this Christmas season — even on those flights they say are now sold out.

The empty seats are expected despite a predicted record number of air travels and cutbacks in the number of flights being operated because of the fuel shortage.

Main reasons for the vacancies, the carriers say, will be the end of a Trans World Airlines strike and the heavy number of passengers expected to reserve seats but not show up.

Most carriers say they will not operate as many extra flights this season as they did last year. United Airlines, the nation's largest carrier, says, however, it will operate more than 400 extra flights this season, compared with 283 extra last year.

United will cut back its flights after Christmas, as will all other carriers. United said Wednesday its cutbacks in January will total 198 flights less than originally intended.

TWA says it will have 414 flights over the holidays.

Some passengers booked seats on TWA's competitors before TWA operations resumed Wednesday. All carriers say they expect some of these passengers will switch to TWA now that the strike is over.

No-shows also will empty a number of seats. United says 19 per cent of the people who made reservations on its flights over Thanksgiving holidays never showed up. American Airlines says its no-shows ran 16 per cent during the November holiday period.

Both carriers say they expect about the same number of no-shows during the Christmas period.

"If they (passengers) can hang loose, have the time to go out and stand by for these flights (now booked solid), there's a good chance they'll get a seat," said a United spokesman.

Spokesmen for Eastern Airlines and Allegheny Airlines agreed.

Demand for seats is heaviest on this coming Friday and Saturday, the airlines say, with many of the flights on those two days booked solid. Traffic is expected to be fairly heavy on Sunday and taper off drastically on Monday and Christmas Day.

New Year's air traffic probably will follow the same pattern, the airlines say, with most of the demand on the weekend.

Fire Kills 6; Electricity In Apartment Turned Off

Orlando, Fla. (AP) — A young mother whose electricity was cut off for nonpayment died with her five retarded children Wednesday when a candle tipped over and set fire to their apartment.

Police said Elizabeth Forest, 23, and her children, who ranged in age from 3 to 8, apparently were asleep when the early morning fire engulfed their apartment on the second floor of a two-story wood frame house.

Eight other relatives living in a first-floor apartment escaped unharmed.

The six bodies were found huddled beneath a bed. Authorities said a preliminary autopsy indicated they died from smoke inhalation.

Essie Mae Walker, the children's grandmother, told authorities that the children were retarded since birth and one was unable to speak.

A spokesman for Orlando Utilities said electric service to the Forest apartment had been switched off Tuesday for nonpayment of a $39.11 bill which had been overdue since Nov. 27.

Fire officials said a candle used for light tipped over as the family slept, apparently igniting a plastic cover on a chest of drawers.

The children's grandfather, Clarence Walker, said he hoisted a pole to the window of the burning apartment and shouted for the children to slide down. But he said they were too frightened and could not understand what he wanted them to do.

"The upstairs was a ball of fire," Walker said.

The dead children were identified as Issac, 8; Cathy, 7; Lillie Mae, 6; Lorrine, 4, and Michael 3.

Richard Cupples, fire chief of suburban Holden Heights, said the blaze was under investigation, but was apparently started by the candle. "So far we've found nothing inconsistent with that theory," he said.

Police said they couldn't locate Mrs. Forest's husband, who lived at a different address.

GM, Ford Found Innocent Of Price Fixing Charges

Detroit (UPI) — A federal court jury found General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Corp. innocent Wednesday of charges they conspired in 1969 and 1970 to fix prices in the multibillion-dollar auto fleet sales market.

The jury of nine women and three men deliberated almost seven hours before returning a verdict.

A guilty verdict would have increased the auto companies' chances of having to pay out more than $2 billion in damages sought by 38 states and five fleet customers. The 43 price fixing cases are pending in federal court in Chicago.

Justice Department lawyers called it the biggest criminal conspiracy case ever filed by the government against U.S. automakers.

The fleet market — sales of 10 or more vehicles at one time to a single customer — accounts for 12 of every 100 car sales and is valued at better than $2.5 billion a year.

Justice Department attorneys argued they had proved through auto company records and testimony of automotive officials that there was a conspiracy in 1969 and 1970 to drop discounts averaging about $250 a car that had formerly been given to large volume fleet customers.

Attorneys for the automakers contended the discounts were dropped at the same time, not because of a conspiracy but because the discounts had the same effect on both GM and Ford.

Scottsdale, Ariz.—The town of Scottsdale was built on the outskirts of Phoenix so that $60-a-day tourists could feel they were in the Wild West.

It was built with hitching racks. The store fronts looked like the Western lot out at a studio in Hollywood.

It has expensive stores with expensive boots and frontier pants. Expensive Indians beat out expensive jewelry for the Easterners who come to Camelback for the winter.

I must report, however, that Scottsdale has changed somewhat during the years.

☆ ☆ ☆

The other day a store owner in Scottsdale said he could show me some Indian jewelry I couldn't tell from the real thing.

It had that heavy feel of silver. The turquoise was blue and grained.

"There's about three outfits making the stuff. Biggest is a fellow in Los Angeles. He's the fellow nearly drove Spratling of Taxco out of the Mexican silver business. Made such good copies.

"Now, this necklace, if it were real Zuni work, would be about $150. This piece is $26.50. The turquoise is dyed resin. The silver is plate. I can tell it. But the only way you can tell is to work with the stuff all the time."

He said you could see around the edges of the silver plate that it had been stamped out. Because of the clean edges.

"Besides if you look at all the little pieces of turquoise you'll see they're all the same size and same shade. Now, you won't get turquoise like that out of the same piece of ore.

"On a big piece like this, too, you can tell right away, the pieces are riveted together. You don't rivet silver."

☆ ☆ ☆

There are a lot of exceptional shops in Scottdale.

The silver work is wonderfully designed. Best I've seen in the Southwest. A number of shops are doing work in ironwood which polishes up like a jewel.

"There's tons of it out on the desert. But you can't tell when you pick it up whether it will cut well. Then, it's hard to cut. You have to keep sharpening the tools all the time. And it releases an acid dust that is hard on the lungs. The problem is to find workers to work it."

They said they had a couple of prospectors out looking for ironwood all the time. It made good fireplace wood. So much of it has been burned up.

"The good ironwood comes from a tree that had died and cured in a standing position for about 100 years. You spend a lot of money grubbing one out. Then you cut a slice and find it is flawed throughout."

Even so, the pieces they do get rub up to a jewel-like polish and are very handsome set in the dull silver.

They said they thought Scottsdale was getting pretty rackety, too. What with cheap stamped tin concho belts and imitation jewelry and souvenir shops. The town even has a nice, modern parking problem. You can hardly hitch your Cadillac to a hitching post these days.

☆ ☆ ☆

The store owner with the Los Angeles-made Indian jewelry said the stuff was so good even the Indians were buying it.

"They wear it?"

"No, they sell it. Why, they were selling it up at the powwow in Albuquerque last year. The Santo Domingos particularly. They're a lazy bunch and why make jewelry when you can buy it cheap and sell it high?

"Tourists were coming through here happy as could be with bracelets and necklaces they bought right off the Indians' necks.

"It was Los Angeles stuff all right. Riveted, plated and dyed resin. The tourists were happy and the Indians were even happier. If this keeps up, we'll have a new economy in the Southwest.

Pluta: Barnett Move 'A Political Crunch'

By BOB GUENTHER
Star Staff Writer

State Fire Marshal Joe Pluta Wednesday called efforts to change the way the state fire marshal is picked "a political crunch" intended to force him out of office.

In an interview, Pluta charged that Sen. Wally Barnett of Lincoln and certain members of his own staff, disgruntled with his restricted travel policy, are responsible for "false" allegations made Tuesday by a spokesman for the Nebraska Volunteer Firemen's Association.

"This is all just a political crunch as far as I'm concerned," Pluta said. "With a gubernatorial election next year, they're hoping to put on enough heat to get me out of office.

"My information is that Sen. Barnett is having legislation drafted to change the way the fire marshal is named. I think he's just jealous that I got this job and not him."

Prior to the Exon administration, Barnett served as assistant state fire marshal.

Petition Filed

Tuesday an attorney for the State Volunteer Firemen's Association filed an initiative petition with the secretary of state to let voters decide whether the governor should pick a fire marshal from a field of three candidates nominated by a special commission or whether the governor should retain complete control over the office.

Charles F. Fisher of Chadron charged that Pluta has prompted a high turn-over among his deputies, weakened the state's fire safety standards and been "a dictator" in his dealings with local fire officials.

Pluta said there are presently 15 people on his staff of deputies, and one vacancy exists. Another has been hired but has not reported for work as yet, he said.

Pluta acknowledged that there is some dissatisfaction among his deputies. Some he said are after his job; others are unhappy over his curtailment of overtime compensation for deputies who attend local firemen's meetings.

Compensation Restricted

Compensation for deputies attending those meetings was restricted in September of this year when Pluta told them compensation would only be paid for meetings approved by him.

The order, Pluta said, was prompted by the State Roads Department's request that all agencies reduce gasoline consumption by 8%.

"Some of these deputies were attending three and four meetings a week," he said.

While some of the meetings were valid mutual aid sessions, others he said were attended for social rather than business reasons. One deputy, he said, wanted reimbursement for attending his own volunteer fire department's meeting.

That order, he said, angered the volunteer firemen's association.

Code Not 'Weaker'

As far as endangering Nebraskans with a "weaker" fire safety code, Pluta said people are "just as safe, in fact, safer than they were under the old life safety code." The new fire marshal regulations, which were ordered by the Legislature's repeal of the National Life Safety Code, contain 80% of what the old code covered and has been updated to include recent developments in fire safety.

Pluta said he opposed repeal of the National Life Safety Code when the Legislature was considering it.

The major change in the new code is an 18-month delay before improvements have to be started. Pluta said that alteration was made to take into account budgetary problems faced by local governments.

Pluta, who worked 29 years with the Omaha Fire Department, said, "I'm trying to do an honest job down here, but some just don't believe me. I'm not a politician."

Gurley Manufacturer Is Planning Expansion

GURLEY, Neb. (AP)—The Egging Co., a major producer of cabs for agricultural equipment, is embarking on an expansion program that could double the firm's work force by the end of next year.

The planned expansion is the result of a change-over to the primary manufacture of industrial cab equipment. An increase in orders by the Caterpillar Tractor Co. of Peoria, Ill., is primarily responsible for the change-over, according to Ted Egging, president.

Egging said the plant should be devoting 90 per cent of its production to industrial equipment by the end of 1974, and that the work force is expected to grow from the current 80 employes, to at least 150.

If initial agreements between Caterpillar and Egging reach their top potential, it may be necessary to double the size of the 48,000 square foot plant, he said.

"We can efficiently utilize a work force of 150 people in our present plant, but we can visualize a possible growth to 300," Egging added.

The shift from agricultural to industrial equipment is well illustrated by the fact that only 15 per cent of Egging's 1972 output was devoted to industrial equipment. This year, that figure has jumped to 65 per cent.

Egging said his firm had been negotiating and testing for Caterpillar for three years, but noted that Egging had contracts for the production of industrial cabs for several other companies.

Across Nebraska

This Might Be A Coincidence, But—

Grand Island (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Otto Zapp of Ord became grandparents twice within 10 minutes. Twins, right? Wrong. The Zapp's daughter, Mrs. Timothy Glendenning, gave birth to a boy at St. Francis Hospital here at 1:26 p.m. Tuesday. The wife of their son Douglas gave birth to a girl at 1:35 p.m. in the same hospital. The babies were delivered by the same doctor. Young Zapp and the Glendennings also live in the same trailer court in Alda.

Campbell News Ceases Publication

Campbell — The Campbell News will cease publication with Thursday's edition, according to Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Caldwell, its publishers for the past 25 years. It will mark the last of 1,300 consecutive editions of the newspaper, founded about 1945 by Robert E. Hartman with financial aid from the local Chamber of Commerce. Hartman was publisher for 2½ years, then sold the News to Phil Douglas who owned the paper for about 18 months before selling it to the Caldwells on Jan. 1, 1949. The couple cited Caldwell's illness in deciding to close down the paper.

Army Program To Aid Communities

Beatrice — Emergency medical units at Fort Riley, Kan., have announced a new program whereby communities within a 100-mile radius of Fort Riley can take advantage of the med-evac helicopters of the 82nd Medical Detachment. Under the Military Assistance to Safety and Traffic (MAST) program, southeastern Nebraska communities can contact Fort Riley for emergency medical transportation. MAST will go into effect early next year.

Lexington OKs Urban Renewal Plan

Lexington — The City Council has approved the urban renewal redevelopment plan here, paving the way for initial work in the city. Cost of the first phase which will begin April 1, 1974, is estimated at $556,500, of which 23% or about $126,500 is to come from public funds.

Kearney Faculty Jobs In Jeopardy

Kearney — Thirty Kearney State College faculty members have received "on notice" letters notifying them if the college has insufficient funds next year, they will not be rehired. The "on notice" letters were not final notices; the question of which faculty members will not have jobs at KSC next fall will be determined after the Legislature takes budget action in the spring.

Kearney Firm Gets OK For Tellers Office

State Banking Director Henry E. Ley reported Wednesday he has authorized the Platte Valley State Bank and Trust Co. of Kearney to establish a detached auxiliary tellers office at the southwest corner of the intersection of 39th Street and Second Avenue in Kearney.

Ley also reported he has authorized the Schuyler State Bank to operate a trust business.

United Will Reduce Omaha Flights

Omaha (AP) — United Air Lines said Wednesday it will cut back its present Omaha schedules by five passenger flights and one jet freighter flight effective Jan. 3.

The reductions are part of a systemwide cutback to meet the government's mandatory fuel allocation levels, United said.

United's Omaha Manager Andrew Vassios said that the airline will eliminate its New York nonstop flight, three flights to Chicago's Midway Airport and a Denver nonstop.

The Denver flight cutback was previously announced as part of a fuel capacity agreement with Frontier Airlines and suspension of all service at Midway Airport due to mandatory fuel cutbacks was announced by United on Dec. 5.

United also will eliminate its evening jet freighter service from Omaha to Chicago, Vassios said.

United officials said it was not yet known how many Omaha employes would be furloughed or laid off.

United will continue to maintain eight daily passenger departures from Eppley Field to Chicago's O'Hare International Airport, including six nonstop flights. Three of the eight Chicago flights will be operated in planes with greater seat capacity, thus boosting seating by 4 per cent, Vassios said.

Effective Jan. 3, United will operate 20 daily passenger flights from Eppley Field, with a total seating capacity of 2,122. This is a 20 per cent reduction in flights, with a 16 per cent seating reduction.

The loss of the Omaha-Midway flights will eliminate present through service to Washington's National Airport. However, connecting flights to National will be available throughout the day, Vassios said, as will evening connecting service to Baltimore or Washington's Dulles International Airport.

The eliminated Omaha flights are United's 1:10 p.m. departure to Kennedy International Airport in New York, the 7:25 a.m., 10:45 a.m. and 4:40 p.m. departures to Midway and the 11:55 a.m. flight to Denver.

United said anticipated 1974 fuel supply levels will enable the airline to operate a schedule of 1,322 average daily systemwide departures beginning Jan. 3.

Burbach's Political Plans Are 'Not Firmed Up Yet'

CROFTON, Neb. (AP) — State Sen. J. W. Burbach of Crofton, who has been mentioned as a possible bidder for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor in 1974, said Wednesday his political plans are "not firmed up yet."

He was questioned in the wake of developments this week which saw Hastings attorney Gerald T. Whelan announce his candidacy and receive Gov. J. James Exon's running-mate endorsement, and which saw Sen. Frank Lewis of Bellevue also become an announced cndidate, although bypassed for an Exon endorsement.

Burbach, first elected to the legislature in 1956, is rounding out the first year of a 4-year term to which he was elected in 1972. He could run for lieutenent governor without forfeting the remaining two years of his legislative term.

Burbach was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor in 1966 and 1970. He was defeated by Exon in 1970 on a vote of 54,100 to 51,000.

Compliance Is Found On Diesel Fuel Prices

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service said Wednesday that its second weekly check of Iowa and Nebraska truck stop diesel fuel prices shows overall compliance with petroleum regulations.

Officials said agents have checked 85 truck stops in the past two weeks, and found only 10 violations.

Spokesmen for the IRS said dealers at all 10 stations agreed to roll back prices to allowable levels.

The federal agency said the Iowa stations which agreed to roll back prices are Brooks DX Plaza in West Liberty; Davenport Truck Plaza, Walcott; and Texaco Exit 41 on Interstate 80 at Victor.

Also, I-35 Standard, Inc., Williams; Union 76 Truck Stop, Altoona; Herbie's Auto-Truck Stop, Council Bluffs; Ray's Texaco, Osceola; and Skelly Truck Stop, Missouri Valley.

The two Nebraska stations are Huskie Station, Hampton; and Greenwood Truck Stop, Greenwood.

Federal officials explained that most stations had to buy some fuel from sources other than their normal suppliers.

Stations may pass along their increased costs once each calendar month.

Firemen OK 1974 Contract With Omaha

Omaha (AP) — Firemen have ratified their tentative 1974 contract with the city.

The contract, which still must be approved by the City Council, is for a 5.9 per cent wage and fringe benefit increase.

Police union negotiators have agreed to the same tentative wage and fringe benefit contract.

They are to vote Thursday. The contract would raise the pay for police and firemen from $735 to $772 a month starting Jan. 1.

Airline's Profits Increase 140%

Stockholm (AP) — Scandinavian Airliners Systems (SAS) increased its profit before taxes by 140% to $19 million during the year ended Sept. 30, the company reported.

The previous year's profit was $7.7 million.

SAS Director Knut Hagerup, however, cautioned that the company's future might be dim in the light of the international energy crisis.

Columbus Woman Dies After Hickman Mishap

A Columbus woman died at Bryan Memorial Hospital from injuries she sustained in a car-train accident Tuesday about three miles southeast of Hickman, according to the Lancaster County Sheriff's Office.

According to sheriff's reports the woman, Hazel Gaines, 59, was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Aubrey, 63. He was listed in fair condition at Bryan Memorial Hospital Wednesday.

Gaines was westbound when the auto collided with a northbound Burlington Northern train, according to sheriff's reports.

The state spur on which the couple was traveling was snow-covered, according to sheriff's reports.

Parking Banned On West, South

Beginning at 8 a.m. Thursday, parking will be banned on the south and west sides of residential streets as the snow emergency declared by Lincoln Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf continues.

Parking on the north and east sides of residential streets had been banned for Wednesday.

Lincoln police said Wednesday evening that more than 150 citations have been issued for parking violations during the snow emergency.

Lincoln's arterials were clear by 7 a.m. Wednesday and about 47 snow removal units moved into residential areas at 10 a.m., according to Public Works Director Robert Obering.

Obering said he expected almost all residential streets would have at least one lane cleared by Wednesday evening.

A spokesman for the Lincoln Transportation System said that buses were running on schedule by 11:30 a.m.

Twenty-seven accidents were reported on Lincoln Streets by Wednesday evening, according to police. There were no serious injuries reported. The total was well below that of recent storms.

Lincoln's two ambulance services reported that they were able to respond to all calls during the storm, although vehicles were slowed somewhat by snow.

Most stores at the Gateway Shopping Center and downtown were open by noon Wednesday according to a telephone survey, and observers reported that downtown stores were "jammed" with customers Wednesday afternoon.

Snow Doesn't Hurt Gas, Phone Service

Gas and phone utilities reported normal service in southeast Nebraska Wednesday, and transportation lines were moving slowly after the heavy snowfall Tuesday and Wednesday morning.

Collins Wilcox, Lincoln division manager of Cengas, said "This snow wasn't bad enough to cause us any problems," and said gas service was normal in the area.

Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph advertising manager Jim Vanderslice said the snow caused no trouble with telephone lines in the 22 southeast Nebraska counties LT&T serves.

Vanderslice said only 39 rural lines knocked out by the Dec. 4 storm were still out as of Tuesday. He said there was no new damage Tuesday or Wednesday.

The Lincoln Municipal Airport was closed from 9:30 p.m. Tuesday to 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, according to the Lincoln Airport Authority. The Authority said that switching northerly winds up to 35 miles an hour caused near blizzard conditions and low visibility. Runways were cleared, and air traffic was reported normal Wednesday afternoon.

Frontier Airlines said it was closed from 3:30 p.m. Tuesday to noon Wednesday, and that ten flights were cancelled at the Lincoln Municipal Airport. Frontier and United Air Lines said their air traffic was normal Wednesday afternoon. United said a flight from Lincoln to Denver, and another flight to Chicago, were cancelled Wednesday morning.

Amtrak said its service was an hour to two hours behind schedule early Wednesday morning, but that all trains were running with full passenger loads.

The Omaha Union Pacific office said rail traffic was normal across the state, and hadn't been hindered by the snow.

Burlington Northern's Omaha office said that rail traffic is moving slowly over its region. The Lincoln station was "plugged up" Wednesday morning because of frozen switches and packed snow. The Denver station was jammed Tuesday because of snow and ice, but both stations were open Wednesday afternoon.

Continental Trailways in Lincoln said that inter-city buses were running from 30 minutes to 1½ hours late because of snow-packed highways. The company said the biggest delays were with buses coming from the west, where the snow struck first.

LES Power Outages Said Only Scattered

The massive 11.5 inches of snowfall caused several scattered power outages around the city, Lincoln Electric System (LES) officials reported Wednesday.

The lack of strong winds, which can cause havoc with transmission lines, held down the number of power outages, LES information officer Frank Grant reported.

"We were very fortunate," he said.

He reported that the Pine Lake area was without electricity from 8 p.m. to 9:17 p.m. Tuesday night when a lighting bolt apparently knocked out a 12,500-volt line at 56th and Old Cheney Rd.

The rare combination of a blizzard and thunderstorm was termed "real strange" by a National Weather Service official.

Grant said the Veterans Hospital also suffered a power outage Tuesday night, but that electricity at the hospital was supplied by an electric generator.

A section of the West O area also was without power from 9 to 10 p.m. Tuesday when a vehicle traveling on West O near the 1200 block skidded out of control and crashed into a transformer pad, Grant said.

Service was out for a half hour Wednesday morning in the area generally from 27th to 35th, Center to Cornhusker Hwy. when the wind knocked down a 12,500-volt transmission line.

Grant said there were some other scattered blackouts, but that LES restored service immediately. He said a full crew was out in the field making repairs Wednesday.

Schools Will Reopen For Classes Thursday

Most area schools will be open for classes as usual again Thursday, after a one-day snow holiday.

Supt. John Prasch said the Lincoln Public Schools will reopen, and the city's Catholic schools will do the same.

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln, where final examinations scheduled for Wednesday morning were canceled, was back on its exam schedule in the afternoon.

Assistant Vice Chancellor Ned Hedges said the two exam periods that were canceled will be rescheduled after the start of the second semester Jan. 14.

"We felt it was less disruptive to deal with it following the break," said Hedges, noting that students usually have their holiday transportation schedules arranged this late in the term.

The first semester ends Saturday.

For graduating seniors and students who don't plan to return next semester, Chancellor James Zumberge was urging contact with professors to make arrangements for missed exams.

Zumberge said he was giving teachers "maximum flexibility" to allow students to complete course work.

Nebraska Wesleyan University did not call off finals Wednesday, though some may have been missed if professors couldn't get to the campus.

"Any who missed will make the necessary arrangements," said Vice President Darrel Seng. "We're going to finish up by Friday."

In other parts of the county, school superintendents said late Wednesday they are planning to open school doors again Thursday.

Those were the plans in Norris and Waverly, although Waverly Supt. Dale Siefkes said bus service there may be "limited" if some roads haven't been cleared.

Back in Lincoln, Supt. John Prasch said the colder weather had also forced every school to switch to oil for heating.

Although some buildings have switched from natural gas on other days this year, Wednesday was the first day that all schools were using oil.

Availability of fuel oil has been one of the biggest energy-related headaches for schools across the nation this year.

Several Discharges Get Tentative Okay

Omaha (AP) — Firms in Omaha, Lincoln, Fremont and McCook and the City of Fremont all have received tentative approval to continue making discharges into public waters, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency said.

The discharges would be controlled and would not harm the environment, the agency said.

Strictest controls are slated for the City of Fremont, which is discharging 3.5 million gallons of treated sanitary sewage and industrial wastes into the Elkhorn River. Fremont plans to offer secondary treatment early in 1975 when an addition to its treatment plan is completed.

The other discharges, for which permits now are required:

Quaker Oats Co. cooling water from its plant into the Missouri River; Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., cooling and boiler water from its Lincoln manufacturing plant into Salt Creek; Hormel and Co., water from condensers, compressors and cookers at the Fremont beef and pork processing plant into lakes and the Platte River.

FAA Finds Emergency Locator Beacon In Home

Hershey (AP) — Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) officials said Wednesday afternoon that they found an emergency locator beacon that had been sending out distress signals.

An FAA spokesman said the device, which is used to locate downed aircraft, was found in a farm home about 25 miles northwest of here.

The spokesman said the device had batteries installed and was apparently activated by accident.

Authorities began searching for the beacon Tuesday when pilots flying over the area began to pick up the signal. When the beacon in the farm house was deactivated, pilots could no longer pick up the signal.

Officials said there were no reports of downed planes in the area.

Omaha To Get Plastic Advertising Bag Rules

Omaha (AP) — Starting Jan. 2, advertisers placing plastic bags on doorknobs of Omaha homes will be required to take new safety steps.

The City Council has approved council member Betty Abbott's ordinance requiring perforation of bags so that children will not suffocate if they pull the bags over their heads.

A child nearly died several weeks ago because of one of the bags, Mrs. Abbott said. She worked with Police Chief Richard R. Andersen in preparing the ordinance.

The measure was amended however, against Mrs. Abbott's objection.

The ordinance states that bags with openings six inches long or less need not have the perforation.

Commencement Honors Set For Dr. McLaughlin

Omaha (API) — Dr. Charles W. McLaughlin Jr. will receive the governor's meritorious service award during the mid-year commencement of the University of Nebraska Medical Center Saturday.

A total of 33 degrees will be presented, including four doctor of philosophy degrees and three doctor of medicine degrees.

McLaughlin, who joined the staff in 1935, has been a senior consultant in the department of surgery at the center since 1971. From 1955 to 1971 he was a professor of surgery.

He was recently named president-elect of the American College of Surgeons.

Alan Dusatko Dies; Services To Be Friday

Clarkson (AP) — Funeral services for Clarkson attorney Alan A. Dusatko, 70, will be at 2 p.m. Friday at New Zion United Presbyterian Church in Clarkson.

Burial will be in Clarkson National Cemetery.

Dusatko died Tuesday of an apparent heart attack in an Omaha hospital following major surgery.

Dusatko served as governor of Lions International District 38B in 1955-56; was a Democratic candidate for Congress in 1952; was a past president of Nebraska Tuberculosis Association; served on the Nebraska Boy Scout Executive Council, and was city attorney for Clarkson and Pilger.

Survivors include his widow, Ann; a son, Anthony of Omaha; two daughters, Mrs. Robert Rea of Omaha, and Ann Witten of Glendale, Calif., and three sisters, Mrs. Louise Votava, Mrs. Bertha Pekar, and Mrs. Olga Finley, all of Omaha.

Landow Plans Bid For Unicam

Omaha (UPI) — A 25-year-old Omaha man said Wednesday he will seek election to the State Legislature from the fourth district.

Paul M. Landow, a secretary for Western Supply Co., said he will seek the post now held by Sen. Richard Fellman, who has announced he will not be a candidate.

Landow is an Omaha Westside High School and John F. Kennedy College graduate. He also studied one year on the graduate level at the University of Nebraska at Omaha.

Platform Shoes Said A Hazard To Winemakers

New York (UPI) — Platform shoes are a hazard to the wine industry, says Edy Willm, an Alsatian vintner.

Willm said the footwear industry is using so much cork for the towering shoe soles that there's not enough of good quality for wine bottles.

Supplies of wine also are short because manufacturers had expected plastic, a petroleum product in a petroleum-short world, to make up for glass shortages.

Scenic Road On Riverfront To Be Put Off

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—A final decision on building a scenic highway along the Riverfront could be postponed several years, but land for the route should be obtained to preserve its natural beauty, a Riverfront Development Program official said Wednesday.

The Nebraska Sierra Club has objected to the proposed 140-mile $80 million route on both sides of the Missouri River.

The club said public transportation should be used to carry travelers to recreational areas and there should be an effort to minimize the use of cars.

In response to the club, B.P. Pendergrass, Riverfront executive director, said some of the land along the proposed scenic drive is being degraded daily and exploited by "marginally profitable private enterprises."

After the land is purchased, bicycle, hiking and horseback riding trails could be established, Pendergrass said.

Courtney Quinn Won't Run For Secretary Post

Courtney C. Quinn Jr., 20, withdrew Wednesday as a candidate in the Democratic primary for the office of secretary of state.

Quinn, 20, filed for the post Dec. 11.

He is awaiting a January trial on misdemeanor charges stemming from an incident in which shotgun blasts were fired into the home of Omaha City Prosecutor Gary Bucchino in September.

Records show other charges were not pressed on condition that Quinn seek psychiatric care.

ARE ALL HEARING AIDS GUARANTEED?

Most hearing aids are guaranteed by the manufacturer against defects in material or workmanship. While a radio or TV set is generally guaranteed for 90 days, most hearing aids guarantee periods are for one year.

These guarantees specify that repair will be made without charge during the one year period. We offer hearing aid repair and insurance plans as well.

York College Given Stock, $53,110 Check

York — York College benefactors, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Gibson Sr. of Dallas, Tex., were back in York last weekend, presenting York College with its largest gift.

The donation consisted of 80,000 shares of Gibson's Class A preferred stock and a check for $53,109.72. The Gibsons also awarded free Mexican holidays and educational tours to six students and two faculty couples. Wristwatches were given to 12 other young people.

The trips and the watches were rewards to the students who were responsible for raising the most money for the college since Oct. 1, 1972.

Gibson, a college trustee, is founder of Gibson Discount Centers, a chain of more than 800 retail outlets scattered throughout the United States.

Complimenting the York College students who raised $47,447.37, Gibson said, "If you can find a student body who can beat the York College student body, tell me, and we'll come back and beat them! With two-for-one matching money given by the Gibsons, the total cash accruing to the college has now come to $142,342.11. The contest for the students closed December 1.

When the Gibsons presented their first major gift (20,000 shares of stock) in October, 1972, they then agreed to match with securities all gifts to the college through the end of 1973. This challenge was in addition to the student project.

The college donations for the period so far, acccording to the school's vice president, Joe K. Alley, have totaled $511,686.60. "The gift of 80,000 shares of stock exceeds their promise," he said, "and the securities will likely become the beginning of a much needed endowment fund." The college operational budget exceeds $1 million annually.

Questioned about the value of the securities, college president Dale R. Larsen stated, "We now own 100,000 shares of stock in one of the 10 top retail businesses in the nation. This stock is not trading on the market at the present time, but its par value of $10 per share and the performance of the company make us very proud to be recipients of such a gift."

Prof. Robert Lawrence, who is currently writing a book on the life of the Gibsons, said the book would be a tribute to "two outstanding people who have worked as a team." He described Gibson as a man of "unbounding enthusiasm."

Larger Equal Opportunity Panel Urged

The former chairman of the Nebraska Equal Opportunity Commission has suggested legislation to expand the membership of that body and to make it more representative of labor and mangement.

Jerry Sellentin in a letter to Sen. John Murphy of South Sioux City proposed the commission be expanded from seven to ten members and the executive director be chosen by the governor instead of the commission.

Under Sellentin's proposal, three commission members would represent management, three labor, three minorities and one representative of housing interests. Presently, there are no qualifications for commission members.

By being underneath the commission, the director is handicapped in his administrative freedom, while the commission now "may not be truly representative of labor and management," Sellentin said.

Sellentin, whose term expired this fall, said a system of checks and balances is needed to counteract an existing situation where commission members have become too involved in mangement.

Specifically, he said commissioners Anne Troumbley and Mrs. Essie Burden are "definitely" too involved in administration.

The expanded commission is needed he said, because during his term many issues often were decided by a three-member majority when two members were absent. His proposal would raise the number needed for a quorum from five to seven members.

With added jurisdiction over complaints of discrimination due to age and handicaps, Sellentin said the commission needs to be expanded to meet its increased responsibility.

Murphy said the final proposal on altering the commission has not been drafted, nor he said has a decision been made definitely to introduce it.

Insufficient Capital Blamed By Firm

Kansas City (AP) — The failure to line up sufficient capital in the period when discount stores were proliferating is being blamed for the financial troubles of Parkview-GEM Inc. of Kansas City.

The firm filed a petition in federal court on Tuesday asking that a trustee be appointed to reorganize it under the bankruptcy laws. Trading in its stock was suspended last Thursday.

Parkview-GEM said an indicated loss of $28 million for the year ended July 28 would give it a deficit net worth of $12.7 million and it cannot meet its debts as they come due. Only a year ago, Parkview-GEM had a net worth of $22.4 million.

Much of the loss is attributed to the closing of some of its stores and of departments it operated in stores owned by other firms. Parkview-GEM has closed its 12 drug stores and 30 of its 49 discount department stores. It says it did not get as much as it expected from some of their assets.

Parkview Drugs was a chain founded in Kansas City in 1910; and Gem International, a chain of discount stores, was started in 1956. Parkview had the drug, beauty and health aid departments in Gem stores, and it acquired its landlord in 1966.

The firm had two stores in Omaha, but both were closed earlier this year.

The first outlet was opened in 1961, and was closed in April, while the second store opened in 1969, and closed last January.

There had been discussion of a third store in the Omaha area, but those plans never got past the drawing board.

Giving takes a lot of thought.

And a little help.

It's not the amount of money you spend that makes your gifts appreciated on Christmas morning. It's the care and thought you put into choosing those gifts that's important.
This year when you put a lot of thought into the gifts you choose, put the same kind of careful thinking behind how you pay for them. Because paying for the gifts that mean so much may take more than a lot of thought. It usually takes a little practical help. Like BankAmericard®.

If all your purchases add up to more than you had planned to spend, the extended payment feature built into BankAmericard helps keep your budget on an even keel. You'll have the option of paying your balance when you receive your statement or in convenient monthly payments. BankAmericard can help you take care of everyone on your Christmas list... and your budget. So, when you're giving thought to those special people in your life, think of BankAmericard.

Think of it as money.™

Fuel Woes Cause Other Shortages

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Fuel shortages and public concern about them is, in some cases, leading to shortages in a variety of industries.

Take the building insulation industry.

Boyd Roberts, manager of Sutherland Lumber Co., said his firm is encountering shortages of insulation and weather stripping partly because of the increased public demand for such products and partly because producers can't get enough fuel to manufacture the insulation.

"The public has been educated that it is worthwhile to insulate and weatherstrip homes," he said.

And the resulting demand has placed unprecedented strains on the supply lines.

Allen Wotherspoon, president of Midwest Insulation Services, Inc., an insulation contractor, said normally he would be able to get a carload of the fiberglass type of insulation in 30 days.

"Now there is a 10-to-14 week lead time," he said.

Wotherspoon agreed that heavy demand has played a part in the problems. But he also noted that it takes extremely high temperatures to process fiber-glass insulation and this takes a lot of fuel.

He said his manufacturer told him they have supplies of propane stored to supplement other fuel, but that "the government said they won't be able to use it. They said there may be a time this winter when the production of spun glass will be nil."

Kenneth McVey, owner of Carlise Insulation, Inc., is in the same boat.

He said there is a vicious circle — the need for insulation to conserve energy, but the companies producing insulation cannot get enough fuel to operate.

McVey said he is operating from day to day and although he has not had to close his business, he says "If I can't get the material I'm dead. Twenty-five per cent of my time is spent hunting, begging and trying to get material."

Even some businesses not normally associated with the heavy use of fuel are having problems.

Bob Hruska, grower at the Center Street Florist and greenhouses, said "we are shutting down part of our operations and crowding everything into a small section."

He said the firm is getting 15 to 20 per cent less fuel oil and has had to take steps to conserve supplies.

A spokesman for the Ash Grove Cement Co. in Louisville, Neb., said the company uses natural gas and coal and has not had fuel problems but "the future doesn't look too red hot because the maintenance of our kilns depends on fire brick" and fire brick production is down. The reason? Processors can't get the fuel to produce the brick.

Ash Grove also has had other problems with equipment and has not been able to turn out as much cement as demand dictated.

"There is a shortage of cement all over the U.S.," the spokesman said. "I'm certain there is a shortage in this area. We could have sold a lot more if we had had it."

Santa's In Jail, But Without Fail Helper Has Bail

SEATTLE (AP) — 'Twas a week before Christmas with Santa in jail. Then along came a helper who sprung him on bail.

Santa was Calvin Troope, 63, of Spokane, arrested beard and all in a Santa Claus suit because he lacked a license to solicit charitable donations for a nonexistent hospital. Faced with bail of $15, he could come up with only $13.53.

An anonymous Santa's helper produced the balance, and Santa departed after changing from jail overalls back to his red coat and trousers with white fur trim.

Garrison Loss Is Now Official

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison has officially lost his bid for a fourth term. He was beaten in the Democratic runoff election by Harry Connick, 42, who is considered a heavy favorite in the March 15 general election.

Confusion over Saturday's unofficial count had left the outcome between Connick and the 52-year-old Garrison uncertain, and 750 voting machines had been impounded. However, an official count gave Connick 64,952 votes to 62,731 for Garrison.

Doctor Studying Kennedy Tumor

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — When Edward M. Kennedy Jr.'s right leg was amputated last month in Washington, Dr. Alan Levin picked up samples of tumor tissue for study.

A specialist in childhood immunology at the University of California Medical Center here, Levin hopes to increase young Kennedy's resistance to the rare form of cancer that cost him his leg.

The 12-year-old son of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., was diagnosed as suffering from chondosarcoma, a cancer of cartilage tissue that is unusual among children.

Northeast Kiwanis Club Cites Firth Farm Family

A Firth farm family, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Paschold and three sons, have been honored by the Lincoln Northeast Kiwanis Club for outstanding contributions to agriculture.

The Paschold s were recognized by the club in Lincoln Wednesday for their wide-ranging leadership and participation in agricultural, community, school and church affairs.

Club officials said Mr. and Mrs. Paschold "epitomize the outstanding American farm couple . . . farm families such as the Paschold s' assure that agriculture will continue to be the strength and backbone of our country."

Paschold, described as "an innovative farmer," farms 660 acres on his own, has a feeder pig operation turning out approximately 600 head annually, and farms 240 additional acres in partnership.

Mrs. Paschold, the former Aldyth Francke, and her husband participate jointly in many enterprises and community service activities.

The couple attended the Norris adult farm accounting class for two years and their farm records were submitted to the University of Nebraska for processing and evaluation.

"Bullitt," "The French Connection," and now "The Seven-Ups"—the dirty tricks squad that even regular cops are afraid of!

"The Seven-Ups" was produced and directed by Philip D'Antoni, the man who brought you "Bullitt" and "The French Connection."

The star of "The Seven-Ups" is Roy Scheider who played Gene Hackman's partner in "The French Connection."

The story was written by New York Detective Sonny Grosso, one of the two detectives who busted "The French Connection" case.

Remember how "Bullitt" and "The French Connection" literally slammed you into the front seat of a car and drove you headlong into a new kind of excitement?

Well, wait until you see what D'Antoni is up to this time.

The same, and lots more, as you roar through city streets at terrifying speeds in what we predict will be hailed as the most electrifying chase in screen entertainment.

Market Rises, Drops

New York (AP) — The stock market went up and came right back down Wednesday, posting almost no net change for the day.

Brokers said a sharp morning advance, which carried the Dow industrial average up 11 points, was a continuation of the wave of bargain buying that began Tuesday. But as the buying slowed, investors cashed in and took their profits from the rally, wiping out today's gains brokers said. The Dow closed at 827.57, up only .08.

"A lot of people aren't convinced that the market's slide is over, so they are taking what profit they can now," said Ralph Acampora of Harris, Upham & Co., as the morning advanced vanished.

Brokers said the central issue was the energy crisis and how it would affect the economy, and these are still open-ended questions.

"The market is apt to swing violently until some of the energy questions are answered," said Robert Wade of Drexel, Burnham & Co., "It is still terribly sensitive to energy news. The market gets very oversold when it hears bad news, then it snaps back."

Advances and declines also evened out near the close, although advances had held better than a 3 to 1 lead at one point 747 issues gained while 742 issues lost ground among the 1,864 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was active, totaling 20.67 million shares.

The NYSE board-based composite of some 1,500 common stocks came off early gains to close at 60.32 up .03 and the Amex market-value index up more than a half a point at noon, closed down .26 at 85.91. A total of 474 issues declined while 391 advanced in active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Redman Industries was the Big Board's most-active stock, down ¾ to 3¾, followed by Colorox Co., off ⅝ to 11⅞. Virginia Electric & Power fell ⅛ to 13⅞. With 145,000 shares in two large blocks traded at 14. Gulf Oil was unchanged at 20½. AT&T gained ½ to 50¼, and AT&T warrants added ¼ to 4½ after the company announced sharply higher quarterly earnings Tuesday.

In over-the-counter trading, the NASDAQ composite index fell .32 to 90.24.

Man Arrested For Smuggling Semen Of Bulls

Washington (AP) — The U. S. Customs Service said Friday it has seized $1 million worth of semen from prize bulls and arrested a Pennsylvania man on charges of smuggling it across the border from Canada.

Customs agents said Jack C. Miller, 49, a cattle breeder from Collegeville, Pa., was arrested after agents in Goshen, Ind., seized a quantity of bull semen allegedly sold to a veterinarian.

Farmers' Profits May Drop 20%

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers, after enjoying record $25 billion profits this year, are headed into 1974 with prospects of seeing their incomes drop 10 to 20 per cent.

The Nixon administration, hard pressed to dampen food prices for consumers and rebuild shrinking stockpiles for a lucrative export market, sees 1974 as a time for all-out effort by farmers to step up crop and livestock production.

But speakers at the National Agricultural Outlook Conference, which ended Wednesday at the Agriculture Department, warned repeatedly that many threatening factors could send those plans into a tailspin.

The energy crisis, world economic troubles which might affect U.S. farm exports, availability of agricultural inputs such as fertilizer and the normal whims of weather were cited.

Thus, depending on which way everything leans, net farm income might range between $20 billion to $23 billion in 1974. Even so, those profits would be the second highest in history.

Caution in predicting the 1974 farm situation was illustrated at the windup of the three-day conference by James J. Naive, a crop specialist in the department's Economic Research Service.

Farmers may plant about five million acres more of corn and other livestock feed grain next spring, Naive said. On that assumption, they could produce 10 per cent more grain for livestock feeding and export in 1974-75, he said.

"It also assumes there will be no serious disruptions in fuel, fertilizer and agricultural chemical supplies, and that yields will continue about on trend," Naive said.

Administration officials, including William E. Simon, head of the Federal Energy Office, assured farmers during the conference that agriculture will be given top priority for fuel.

Based on adequate fuel supplies and near-ideal conditions, 1974 crop output could rise dramatically.

But farm exports, soaring again this year after huge sales of grain to the Soviet Union in 1972, are more than matching expected production.

"Even these record crops of corn and wheat will be no match for domestic disappearance and exports, so there will be further reductions during the current marketing year from already low carryover stocks of wheat and feed grains," C. Kyle Randall, chairman of the Outlook and Situation Board, told the conference.

Exports amount to production from one in every four acres harvested. Total value of sales for the year ending next June 30 will be $19.3 billion, up by almost half from last season.

World crop production is on the upswing again, and conference speakers estimated there would be some slippage in U.S. farm exports in 1974-75, perhaps to $15 billion.

U.S. Trade Surplus Biggest On Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government reported Wednesday the country had a record quarterly surplus in its balance of payments in the third quarter, another payoff from the two devaluations of the dollar.

A total of $2.5 billion more money flowed into the country than flowed out from trade and financial transactions in the July through September period.

That was the first quarterly surplus since the fourth quarter of 1969 and the biggest surplus ever since the government began keeping figures on the so-called basic balance in 1960.

The United States has never had a payment surplus according to the basic balance index, although it has had trade surpluses until recent years.

But the big third quarter surplus put the country's payments accounts in black by $1 billion for the first nine months of the year.

The country had a payments deficit of $609 million in the second quarter and $944 million in the first quarter. The total deficit last year was $9.8 billion.

The biggest item in the improved third quarter statistics was in trade of goods and services with other countries, which showed a surplus of $2.1 billion.

Trade has been turned around sharply this year after big deficits in the last two years, largely because of the two devaluations of the dollar in 1971 and in February of this year.

The devaluations have made U.S. goods cheaper overseas and foreign goods costlier in this country.

The payments balance reported by the Commerce Department Wednesday was in the "balance on current accounts and long term capital" index, also known as a balance.

It measures the net exports of goods and services and the flow of private long term capital and financial transactions between countries.

Other measures of the balance of payments also were in surplus for the third quarter.

Besides trade, other improvements in the payments flow included $700 million decline in investment overseas to a total $200 million and a $700 million increase in net foreign purchases of U.S. securities to a total $1.2 billion.

There also was a $200 million increase in foreign direct investment in the United States to $700 million.

HEW May Limit Drug Reimbursements

WASHINGTON (AP) — The secretary of Health, Education and Welfare announced plans Wednesday for a new prescription drug buying policy which he said would save taxpayers up to $100 million annually.

Caspar W. Weinberger told a Senate health subcommittee that HEW plans to limit drug reimbursements under Medicare and Medicaid to "the lowest cost at which the drug is generally available unless there is a demonstrated difference in therapeutic effect."

C. Joseph Stetler, president of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association, said that the proposed HEW policy would "seriously jeopardize" the quality and effectiveness of drugs prescribed for the elderly and welfare patients.

"Should the government decide to pay for prescription medicines on the basis of the cheapest so-called equivalent available, it is taking a huge gamble," he said.

The question of whether expensive brand-name drugs and cheaper generic drugs work as well "is still very much a topic of informed scientific debate," Stetler said.

Weinberger said the cost of providing prescription drugs for Medicare and Medicaid patients has risen from $543 million in 1969 to nearly $1.3 billion this year.

A task force has estimated that the proposed new policy, which will be published in the near future for public comment, would save HEW between 5 and 8 per cent of the total bill, he said.

The government will not try to tell doctors which drugs to prescribe, he said, but Food and Drug Administration stadies of quality and therapeutic equivalence will be disseminated widely and form the basis for reimbursement.

"The physician would certainly have to justify his decision" to prescribe a more expensive drug and expect full reimbursement, said Dr. Charles C. Edwards, HEW assistant secretary for health.

Weinberger said HEW would "make every effort to avoid the nonreimbursed charge from falling on the patient."

Boyle Sentenced To Three Years

(c) Washington Star-News

Washington — W. A. (Tony) Boyle, 71, the deposed president of the United Mine Workers was sentenced to a three-year prison term for illegally using union funds for political contributions in 1968.

He is to be incarcerated at the medical center for federal prisoners at Springfield, Mo.

But before Boyle is taken to Missouri, he will be arraigned in Pennsylvania on first-degree murder charges in connection with the 1969 slayings of UMW insurgent Joseph A. Yablonski, his wife and daughter.

$1.1 Billion In Impounded Funds Freed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has ordered the release of $1.1 billion in impounded health and education funds, the White House said Wednesday.

The President's action, announced by Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren, could signal an end to his controversial practice of withholding certain appropriations voted by Congress.

But Warren said that in freeing the $1.1 billion for health and education programs Nixon was not committing himself to free other impounded funds.

The spokesman said Nixon released the funds for spending in fiscal 1974 and 1975 to "end the uncertainty" among intended grant recipients such as school districts and hospitals.

Estimates of the amount of money impounded by the administration for fiscal 1973 range from $7.4 billion to $14.5 billion.

The freed funds will go to such programs as compensatory and vocational education, mental health and alcoholism, health manpower and education of the handicapped.

Snow Hunting

A light blanket of snow can produce good hunting but too much, like seven or eight inches, usually is disasterous.

The deeper the snow, the harder it is for a hunter to kick up any game. But with a light blanket, that same hunter will be able to approach his quarry closer enabling him to make a cleaner shot.

"We had a nice quail area all picked out just before hunting season opened," Kirk Whitman says, "but it was so open that we couldn't get within decent range. We'd flush the covey and maybe get one or two, but the singles stayed away from us.

"When we got that first snowfall, we went back and got our limit (six each with hunting partner Don Hilden) from that same area," he explains. "This time, the birds would hold until we were almost on top of them before they took off. That makes a lot of difference."

The reasoning behind this is basically simple. The quail duck down until it's almost impossible to see them then explode in tiny bullets just when the hunter is almost upon them. The effect on a hunter's nerves is shattering and, quite often, he tends to hurry his shot. That gives the quail a little extra flying room and, once that flight pattern is established, he becomes a little twisting, turning rocket who is very difficult to bring down.

"What made this area so hard to hunt was the terrain," Hilden explains. "There was a small creek running through the middle of the field with high rushes along the banks.

"We could jump the covey there, but then the singles would fly into the field on either side of the creek," he says. "This farmer has terraced his fields so when you're walking uphill, you can't really see over the next terrace."

The quail would adjust to this type of terrain and stay just out of sight of the hunter. But the snow made them hold their ground a little longer than they ordinarily do, he adds.

Often, in this kind of situation, the hunter walks right past the quail and doesn't even notice him. Sometimes the bird will flush once the hunter is past him, but quite often he'll just wait then move slowly out of the area.

"When one of those birds jumps behind you, your heart kind of stops," Kirk says. "By the time you get around he's gone. But still, the chances are better for you if there's a little snow — not much, but a little."

Pheasants A Little Different

Pheasants, however, tend to stick to the open fields. With all their bright plummage, one would think they'd stand out like sore thumbs in all that white. Not so.

"Usually, there's just a little stand of weeds in the middle of a big field that doesn't really seem worth hunting because it's so open on all sides," Don says. "But you'd be surprised what you might get up out of that little weed patch.

"Sometimes, you'll put a pheasant up by just walking up to it. He'll be hiding right there in the snow and you won't know anything about it."

Both Lincolnites have good dogs, however, that does make hunting a little easier. Don a Brittany and Krik an Irish setter. Still, the snow seems to make a difference to them. They seem to bring home more game than when it's dry and clear.

If practice makes perfect, then, perhaps, Nebraska's basketball team is ready for an improved effort in its last home game this year.

Coach Joe Cipriano is hoping his squad's "revitalized" attitude will reap dividends when NU faces Northern Iowa at 7:35 p.m. Thursday at the NU Coliseum.

"I think they're (Huskers) starting to realize as a team that they have to spend more time on team things such as ballhandling," Cipriano said. "When they're as young as they are, they have a tendency to get careless and we (coaches) have to be on them all the time."

While the invaders from Cedar Falls hold a 1-4 record, the Panthers have shown progress in their last two games. Northern Iowa dropped its first three games (72-56 to Wisconsin-Stevens Point, 96-65 to Central Missouri and 94-60 to Kansas) and then played Western Illinois close before losing a 64-60 decision.

Last Saturday, coach Jim Berry's crew slammed Westmar, 99-66, as 6-5 junior forward Jim Davis hit 22 points by converting all 10 of his field goal attempts and two free throws.

Davis, who is averaging 12.6 points, is joined by two other Panthers in averaging double figures.

Blue To Attempt World Record Lift

Don Blue, a Nebraska State Penitentiary trusty who holds the world weight lifting record for the dead lift, will attempt to better that standard at halftime of Thursday night's Nebraska-Northern Iowa basketball game at the NU Coliseum.

Blue's current world record is 618.5 pounds and he will attempt to lift 620 pounds Thursday night.

Junior 6-2 guard Joe Ferguson (12.0) and 6-6 sophomore forward Bill Runchey (12.4) have been the impetus behind the Iowans' offense.

Although Cipriano has named 6-8 senior Brendy Lee as the starting center, he indicated that 6-10 freshman Ron Taylor is progressing enough so that he may regain the starting position he held for NU's first six contests.

"Taylor has worked hard in practice this week," Cipriano said. "He's showing that he wants his starting spot back."

Cipriano continues to be pleased with the guard play of sophomores Jerry Fort and Ricky Marsh, both averaging in double figures. Fort, last year's NU scoring leader as a freshman, is hitting at a 16.7 clip while Marsh holds a 10.3 mark.

The contest marks Nebraska's game against non-Big Eight foes this year. NU's next appearance is next Thursday at 7 p.m. against Kansas State in an opening-round test at the Big Eight's annual pre-season tournament at Municipal Auditorium in Kansas City, Mo.

NU's final nonconference game is Jan. 7 at Wichita against Wichita State with the Big Eight opener set for Jan. 12 at Kansas.

Nebraska has won the seven previous games with the Iowans, including a 95-71 verdict three years ago in Lincoln.

AWARD TO MAJORS ...Sooners' Switzer Second

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Pittsburgh's Johnny Majors edged Oklahoma rookie coach Barry Switzer for the Football Writers Association of America's "Coach of the Year" award, it was announced Wednesday.

The association said Majors, who converted Pitt from a 10-time loser to a bowl participant in one season, received 151 votes to 130 for Switzer, whose probation-strapped Sooners compiled a 10-0-1 record and No. 2 national ranking.

Majors' Panthers play Arizona State in the Fiesta Bowl in Phoenx, Ariz., Friday night. Pitt won five of its last seven games to finish 6-4-1.

Paul "Bear" Bryant, whose Alabama team won the national championship, placed third, ahead of Jerry Claiborne of Maryland, Joe Paterno of Penn State, Ara Parseghian of Notre Dame and Bill Mallory of Miami, Ohio.

The top 10 and their vote totals in the balloting by 761 FWAA members were: Majors, 151; Switzer, 130; Bryant, 89; Claiborne, 45; Paterno, 41; Parseghian, 36; Mallory, 31; Bo Schembechler of Michigan and Jim Young of Arizona, 26 each, and Pete Elliott of Miami, Fla., 22 votes.

Majors, 38, was an All-America tailback at Tennessee in 1958. He served his coaching apprenticeship under Frank Broyles at Arkansas before becoming head coach at Iowa State in 1968. His five-year record at Iowa State was 24-30-1 and his final Cyclone team went to the Sun Bowl.

Majors inherited a Pitt team which had gone 1-10 in 1972. The Panthers started off 1-2-1 this season but finished by losing only to Notre Dame and Penn State in their final seven games.

Switzer's Sooners were plagued by illness, probation and ineligibility problems but finished No. 2 in the national ratings, compiling their first undefeated season since 1956. An early-season tie with Southern California was the lone blemish on the Oklahoma record.

No Decision Reached On Managers' Cases

BOSTON (UPI) — American League President Joe Cronin Wednesday concluded two days of hearings by saying no decision has yet been reached on the cases of two managers who jumped contracts to sign pacts with other clubs.

Cronin, after a six-hour meeting with Oakland Athletics owner Charles O. Finley, Oakland-New York manager Dick Williams, and representatives for both sides, said, "now we have all the findings and will try to make a decision as soon as possible."

The American League president said he believed the Houk and Williams cases will be treated separately.

"I felt last night that the decisions were not wired together. I have to reread today's testimony but I still feel that way."

Cronin added that, "several hundred pages" of testimony had been taken.

Cronin, who said he will rule on the decision even if he must stay after his Jan. 1 retirement date, must rule on Williams' defection to the Yankees and a similar jump by Ralph Houk from New York to the Detroit Tigers.

The 67-year-old American League chief said the subject of Finley's suit to restrain Williams for leaving the Athletics "never came up. I don't know anything about the suit except what I read in the papers. We didn't discuss it."

The meeting "was as pleasant as could be—a full and open discussion," said Cronin.

Cronin described Finley and Williams as "utmost cordial" toward each other. It was just like a conversation with an umpire; once the fifth inning begins, you forget the fourth-inning decision."

"All findings are in now. We've just got to make a decision."

Wisconsin Club Falls To UNO

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—The University of Nebraska at Omaha took an early 14-13 lead and stayed on top the rest of the way for a 78-68 non conference victory over Stevens Point (Wis.) State here Wednesday night.

The host Mavericks raced to a 39-29 halftime lead and the closest the Pointers could get in the second half was 45-40.

High for UNO was Cal Forrest with 23. Dennis Fischer tallied 16 and Larry Seger 13 in support. Seger also led both teams in rebounding with 14. Bruce Weinkauf hit 23 for the Pointers.

Both teams are now 3-3 on the year.

WISCONSIN (68) — Leigh 4, Ramlet 10, Weinkauf 23, Enlund 12, Smith 7, Omelina 4, Hinz 5, Wittman 3.

Doane Hosts Wayne

By STEVE GILLISPIE
Star Sports Writer

Crete — Streaking Doane hosts Wayne here at 7:30 Thursday night at Fuhrer Fieldhouse in a nonconference game.

Coach Bob Erickson's Tigers have won three straight games by comfortable margins, after losing to Nebraska Wesleyan in the semifinals in the Nebraska Intercollegiate Athletic Conference's pre-season tournament.

Doane beat a tough Texas Luthern team in the NIAC's pre-season tournament for third place, whipped Peru and then Kearney on the road.

The Wildcat contest will mark the first time this season that the Tigers have played at home.

Doane lost to Utah State, Idaho, Boise State and Weber State on a road trip to open the season. Then the Tigers defeated Bellevue in the opening round of the NIAC's pre-season tournament.

Erickson credits his team's defense as the main reason for the current three-game win streak.

"Against Nebraska Wesleyan and some of our early games we were a step behind or even, while on defense," he said. "However, now we're playing defense a step ahead or even with our opponents.

"How well we continue to play defense should be the key to how we fare the rest of the season."

The Tigers, now 4-5, will face a team that scored 99 points in its last outing in Wayne, now 3-5. The Wildcats topped South Dakota-Springfield, 99-81, in their last game.

Wayne shot 58 per cent from the field against Springfield and is making 45 per cent on the season.

After a slow start, the Wildcats have come on strong by beating Winona State, Minn., 102-88, falling to UNO, 66-65, in a game played in Omaha and then clipping Springfield.

Three Wildcat players are averaging in double scoring figures, led by 6-8 Neal Walde's 20.5. Walde is also averaging 10.7 rebounds a game.

Charlie Henderson, a 6-2 junior, is next with a 16.5 point average and then comes Ron Jones' 13.8. Jones, a 6-4 senior, is also averaging 11.9 rebounds a game.

In addition to Walde and Jones, the Wildcats' rebounding is helped by 6-8 Chuck Collins, who is averaging 8.9 rebounds a game.

ISU's John To Hospital

Ames, Iowa (AP) — Iowa State basketball coach Maury John said Wednesday he won't be with his squad when the Cyclones travel to Tulsa, Okla., Friday.

John, 53, said he plans to enter the hospital for blood tests.

"That will be the only game that I know I will miss," said John.

"I plan to be back in time for the Big Eight tournament" at Kansas City, Dec. 26-29.

John said assistant coach Gus Guydon will substitute for him.

John, in his third season with the Cyclones, has coached Iowa State to a 5-1 record so far this year.

He compiled a 28-24 record the first two years. Iowa State was 16-10 last year and finished fifth in the Big Eight Conference.

Before coming to Iowa State, John compiled a 206-130 record at Drake during his 13-year coaching span there.

Selmon Finalist For Lombardi

HOUSTON (UPI) — Lucious Selmon of Oklahoma, Bill Wyman of Texas and Ohio State's Randy Gradishar and John Hicks Wednesday were named finalists for the fourth annual Vince Lombardi Award, presented to college football's outstanding lineman.

Selmon is a 5-11, 236-pound senior defensive middle guard from Eufaula, Okla. Gradishar, 6-3, 236, is a senior linebacker from Champion, Ohio.

Wyman is a 6-2, 235-pound senior center and is a native of Spring Branch, Tex. Hicks, a 6-3 258-pound offensive tackle, is a senior from Cleveland.

The award will be presented January 10. Previous winners were Jim Stillwagon of Ohio State in 1971, Notre Dame's Walt Patulski in 1972 and Rich Glover of Nebraska in 1973.

Norfolk's Shade Tied For Fifth

Chandler, Ariz. (AP) — Jon Cutshall shot a 64 Wednesday to take a six stroke lead at the end of the third round of the $64,000 San Marcos Classic.

Cutshall, Houston, Tex., brought his total to a 15-under-par 201 for the tournament. Milt Klungness, Casper, Wyo., moved into second place at 207.

Jerry Barrier, San Antonio, Tex., was in third place at 208 and George Shortridge, St. Paul, Minn., fourth at 209.

Five golfers are tied for fifth at 210, including J.R. Shade, Norfolk, Neb.

Lifesaving Classes Offerred To Public

Free Red Cross junior lifesaving classes will start at Lincoln High School on Jan. 2 from 7 to 9 p.m. for ages 11 through 14 with registering at the pool the first night of class.

Free Red Cross senior lifesaving classes start at East High School on Jan. 3 from 7 to 9 p.m. for ages 15 and up.

Kings Defeat Cavs

Omaha (UPI) — Don Kojis hit 24 points and Sam Lacey grabbed 14 rebounds Wednesday night to push the Kansas City-Omaha Kings to a 106-92 National Basketball Association victory over the Cleveland Cavaliers.

Scottsbluff Tourney Bid Supported

Scottsbluff (AP) — Scottsbluff has received support from the Sidney area in its quest to retain the Nebraska State Girls Volleyball Tournament in 1974, it was reported Wednesday.

Apparent schedule conflicts also were resolved, sources said.

Don Jacobson, manager of the Scottsbluff-Gering United Chamber of Commerce, said the Nebraska Music Educators Association agreed to change its convention dates in Scottsbluff to Nov. 22-23, meaning the volleyball tournament scheduled for Nov. 15-16 could be held in Scottsbluff.

The tournament has been played here during its two years of existence.

The Sidney Chamber of Commerce and school authorities in Sidney, Gurley, Dalton, and other southern panhandle communities have announced their support of the Scottsbluff site, officials here said.

Some schools in the eastern portion of the state had suggested the tournament be played in central or eastern Nebraska.

Jordan Cites Playoff Pressure

. . . COWBOY SAYS RAMS MAY NOT BE READY FOR IT

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas middle linebacker Lee Roy Jordan wants the Los Angeles Rams to know that playing in a regular National Football League game and the pressure-packed playoffs is a vastly different experience.

"I'm not sure they've got confidence they can beat us," Jordan says. "We've been in the playoffs a number of times. We know what we can do."

The Rams under new coach Chuck Knox face the Cowboys Sunday at Texas Stadium in a National Conference semifinal playoff game.

Los Angeles tripped the Cowboys 37-31 in a regular season game which found the Rams jumping to a big early lead and hanging on in the second half for the victory.

"I'm not sure at the end of the game they felt they beat us," Jordan says. "We had just played in that emotionally draining Monday night game against Washington and it was a case of 40 guys not being ready. I know I was very tired.

"But when we woke up we played on pride in that second half. A lot of teams would have been embarrassed."

Los Angeles' fleet Harold Jackson caught four touchdown passes against the Cowboys the last time the teams met and Jordan says that won't happen again.

"We were just flat-footed," Jordan says. "This time we will give him some different looks and changeups."

Dallas had good success against Washington wide receiver Charley Taylor by bumping him at the line of scrimmage with linebacker D.D. Lewis.

"We'll give Jackson some things he won't anticipate this time," Jordan says. "We just might have Lewis in his face."

Jordan says the Dallas defense, which has been superb in the stretch run into the playoffs, is comparable to the Super Bowl teams of 1970 and 1971.

"Our defensive team has the attitude that we have to play every game like it was a shutout," Jordan says.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry says the 11-year veteran Jordan, who is the fiery leader of the Doomsday Defense, is "having his best year overall . . . he has just been excellent."

Jordan, who has never made an All-Pro team, leads the club with six interceptions. He swiped three passes in one quarter against Cincinnati.

The former Alabama AllAmerican says "Our team is extremely confident . . . just like the Super Bowl teams. There's a much more positive attitude than last year."

TEXAS LONGHORNS REPORT IV . . .

Coach Royal Didn't Ask How Big Joe Bob Was

. . . LITTLE LONGHORN STARTING SAFETY

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Austin, Tex. — The Texas' brochure thumbnail sketches list him at 5-8. He claims he's 5-7. But he stood at least two inches shorter than a 5-7 sports writer interviewing him.

Ask him who was the last person to tell him he was too small to play major college football and he goes into deep thought, finally responding, "There were alot of them."

But one of those who told Texas' freshman safety Joe Bob Bizzell he was too small wasn't Longhorn head coach Darrell Royal.

"When coach Royal talked to me about coming to Texas, he said he had had little people play for him before," the 140-pounder recalls. "He told me he didn't know how big I was and he wasn't going to ask."

In addition to Texas, the three-time Texas High School All-Stater, who was chosen in his senior year as both a split end and a defensive back, had recruiters calling from all but two Southwest Conference schools, plus Oklahoma and Colorado of the Big Eight.

Bizzell says he considered Oklahoma "until that trouble they had," a reference to the grade altering scandal that led to two years probation for the Sooners.

But actually once Texas showed an interest in him, the others were wasting their time.

"When I was growing up," he recalls, "to play for Permian (a perennial high school football power in his home town of Odessa, Tex.) and Texas was just a dream.

"I thought I would be too little but when Texas started recruiting me, I had no trouble making up my mind."

The littlest Longhorn says his size has never bothered him on the field, noting, "With a lot of guys 6-4 or 6-6, they can throw the ball high to them so they can catch it, but I can punch 'em pretty good."

When Joe Bob, who looks more like a wrestler than a football player, showed up for football as a freshman this fall, he was working with the freshman team as a split end.

"I thought they (the varsity coaches) had forgotten about me," he explains. "Then one day, coach Campbell (defensive coordinator Mike Campbell) called me over to work with the varsity.

"I was happy to get a chance to work as a defensive back because Texas doesn't throw the ball much and as a split end all I'd be doing would be running downfield to block someone.

"It makes me excited to hit someone hard and tackle them because that's what the game is all about."

The freshman safety began to get that chance after the 52-13 loss to Oklahoma game, a contest in which starting safety Tommy Keel was burned on three long scoring passes by the Sooners.

"After the Oklahoma game, I started playing quite a bit," he says. "When a game would start, coach Campbell would tell me to come and stand beside him.

"He'd say, 'Go in and play this series,' and I'd be in there for the rest of the game."

While Bizzell, one of many tobacco chewers on the Longhorn squad that will meet Nebraska in the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day, has found his size no handicap in his desire to play football for Texas, he has run into a problem with a longer range goal.

"I have a neighbor, who is a physical therapist in Odessa," he explains, "and I thought that's what I'd like to do, but I don't know now. I'm not very good in all those science classes you have to take."

Joe Bob, however, is having little trouble with the science of playing pass defense. He intercepted two passes and recovered a fumble in the regular season finale against Texas A & M on Thanksgiving Day.

LHS, Undefeated LNE Meet

By Randy York
Prep Sports Writer

When Lincoln Northeast and Lincoln High collide in basketball, the game's usually close.

Lincoln High coach Alden Johnson hopes that'll be the case again Thursday night when his young team meets the unbeaten and defending state champion Rockets at Pershing Auditorium.

"We've played about as well as we can play," Aldy says of his 1-2 team, which has dropped a pair of close decisions to highly regarded Omaha Westside and Lincoln East.

Although Northeast has won 10 of the last 12 games against Lincoln High, the Rockets hold only a 38-34 edge in the series, inaugerated in 1942.

"It still takes a lot of inspiration and perseperation for us to compete," says Aldy. "We're disappointed with our 2-point loss to East last week. But we're not displeased. We hustled. Our attitude is excellent."

Lincoln High will compete without the services of guard Charles Farr, who scored 11 points against Westside in a relief role. He has left the team to concentrate on scholastic work.

Northeast coach Ed Johnson says: "We have a lot of respect for Lincoln High. I thought they were a scrappy bunch of ball players against East. Of course, that's usually true of Lincoln High."

Ed, whose Rockets frequently finish their December schedule unbeaten, says, "We really don't push that as a separate goal. We just play them one at a time. But if you can go undefeated, it's important.

"Because during the holiday break," he explains, "you have time to correct things you've been doing wrong. Those are mainly fundamental things for us. If you win, it doesn't necessarily mean there isn't a lot of room for improvement. No team can afford to stand still. Unless you improve, you lose ground."

While the Northeast-Lincoln High matchup is one of 10 Thursday night prep games, kicking off a lighter than usual weekend, Class B contests command the state-wide spotlight.

Feature Friday matchups include Fremont at Grand Island, Omaha Central at Omaha North, Auburn at Plattsmouth, York at Aurora, Ord at Cozad and Crete at Fairbury.

In games involving Lincoln teams, it's:

Lincoln Northeast v. Lincoln High, Thursday night, Pershing Auditorium — The Links (1-2) have been impressive combatants in all three games. But Northeast (2-0) can make a respectable team look unrespectable.

Ralston at Lincoln East, Friday night, East Gym — The Spartans should win the battle of 2-1 teams at home. Ralston has beaten Columbus and Omaha South and lost to unbeaten North Platte.

Lincoln Pius X at Minden, Friday night — The Whippets (2-1) are always tough on their home floor. But if the 'Bolts (1-1) can win at Fairbury, they can win traveling further west.

Lincoln Southeast at North Platte, Saturday night — The winless Knights (0-3) must blossom immeasurably on offense to stay in contention against the unbeaten Bulldogs (3-0), who boast 6-6, 6-7 and 6-8 height among their starting front line.

Haskell Beats Fairbury Team

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—Haskell Junior College took advantage of numerous first half turnovers by Nebraska Southern of Fairbury to fashion a 36-19 lead at intermission en route to a 65-59 victory here Wednesday evening.

The Bombers outscored their hosts 40-29 in the last half and pulled to within four at 55-51 in the waning minutes of the game.

Fletcher Lewis led the Nebraskans with 22. Ken Pemberton and Maynard Hart each had 23 for the winners.

Haskell boosted its seasonal mark to 8-4 with the win while Southern fell to 5-8.

New York (AP) — Bill Campbell, defensive coach at Boston College, will be named head football coach at Columbia University, the New York Post reported Wednesday.

Platte Juco Beaten In Own Tournament

COLUMBUS, Neb. (AP)—Wilmar State Junior College, Wilmar, Minn., and Bismarck Junior College, Bismarck, N. D. were the winners Wednesday night as the Third Annual Midwest Round Robin Cage Classic opened here.

Wilmar used a 24-point performance by Pete Loven, and 23 points from Dave Dickmeyer to down the Thunderbirds of Cloud County Community College, Concordia, Kan. 108-93.

The Warriors used balanced scoring with five men in double figures to pick up their third win in five outings.

Cloud County, now 2-6, was led by Dennis Phalen's 23 points.

In the second game of the opening round, Bismarck held on to knock off defending champion Platte College of Columbus, 69-68.

The hosting Raiders blew a 14-point mid-first half lead, going down to defeat for only the second time in 11 games.

Bismarck's Dave Barton got 20 points to lead all scorers as the Mystics never gave up, battling to a five point lead at one time late in the second half.

Thursday's pairings put Platte against Cloud County in the early game, with Wilmar facing Bismarck in the nightcap.

Hunters Get $466 Fine

Seward — Two Chicago men were convicted in Seward County Court Monday for possession of seven hen pheasants.

Gordon J. Berg and Steve Bachar, both of Chicago, pleaded guilty and were assessed a total of $466 in fines, liquidated damages and court costs by associate county judge Fred Bruns Jr., according to state conservation officer Dale Bruha of Milford. A female companion was not charged.

Bruha said he placed the two men under surveillance when he recognized their vehicle camped on the fork of the Big west Blue River in Seward County. Bruha had arrested Berg five years earlier on the same charge, resulting in a conviction and a $117 fine.

Bruha was assisted in the surveillance by the Saline County sheriff's office and in the arrest by the Seward County sheriff's office. Impounded were the vehicle and camper, ice chests and seven hen pheasants, and eight firearms.

Bruha said a check with the National Crime Information Center indicated that one of the impounded weapons had been stolen in a 1968 Chicago burglary.

Bruha still has the weapon, a rifle, but said he had notified Chicago law enforcement authorities of the connection with the 1968 burglary.

Court Test To Reverse Iowa Sports Ban Fails

Waterloo, Iowa (AP) — A Black Hawk County District Court judge Wednesday dismissed without a hearing a request by the Waterloo Board of Education to allow Christmas holiday athletic activities.

Judge Carroll Engelkes said the Iowa High School Athletic Association had the power to rule that school should not use their facilities for any type of athletic competition Dec. 22-30.

The association said Nov. 28 it was asking its 509 member schools to refrain from games, meets and practices during the Christmas holiday as a fuel conservation measure.

The board had wanted the court to issue injunctions preventing the association from enforcing its holiday ban, and from penalizing the districts or its employes.

The board said it went along with association's ban on holiday games and practices, but objected to the proposal that threatened a holiday recreation program.

The program is conducted in school buildings by the city recreation commission.

School officials said they wanted to retain control of their facilities and personnel.

Under the four-part holiday ban, any Waterloo school coach or school personnel who supervised a holiday program in basketball, swimming or wrestling would face a penalty from the association if athletes from their school participated.

The school board agreed last Friday to seek the court test.

Attendance Growing In College Football

NEW YORK (AP) — College football attendance rose for the 20th year in a row in 1973, helped by a significant increase in the South and among small college teams in general.

A final survey by National Collegiate Sports Services released Wednesday shows that 31,282,540 spectators attended games of the nation's 630 football-playing four-year colleges, an increase of 453,738 over the 1972 season and almost double the total of 20 years ago.

Of that increase, 405,659 came from the 502 smaller-attendance teams. The nation's 34 major independents showed a rise of 123,405, offsetting a drop of 75,326 in the 12 major conferences.

Major teams in the South showed a boost of 8.53 per cent in total attendance while the area's smaller-attendance teams were up 14.65 per cent. The only other major section to show an increase was the Midwest, up six-tenths of one per cent.

The Southeastern Conference climbed 224,358 in total attendance while the Atlantic Coast Conference was up 65,224. Both leagues set records in both total attendance and average per game.

The Big Ten is still the national attendance king but the SEC closed to within 65,045 spectators—3,279,697 to the Big Ten's 3,344,742.

Game Commission To Hold Hearings

Public hearings on the crow hunting season, and on commercial fishing and importation of non-native species of fish will be features of the December meeting Friday of the Nebraska State Game and Parks Commission.

Other items on the agenda include real estate at Icdian Cave State Park, a proposed publication on state parks, new fees for leased cabin lots on commission land, a proposed extension program on wildlife, and personnel matters.

Indiana Has 14 Inches Of Snow

By The Associated Press

Thousands of Connecticut residents spent a third night without electricity, and Indiana's worst snowstorm in years dumped up to 14 inches on some parts of that state Wednesday.

In Connecticut, officials said as many as 8,000 families might not get power back until Friday because of disruptions caused by the snow and ice.

The Indiana storm forced closing of schools and many roads. Two Rochester, Ind., men died in a plane crash during the snowstorm.

The fall ranged from six inches in Indianapolis to 14 inches around Lafayette. A state police official said Interstate 65 was nearly impassable and sections of U.S. 41 and 52 were closed.

In Delaware, National Guardsmen manned portable generators to bring power to homes and poultry farms still without electricity since Sunday's snowstorm. The poultry famers depended on electricity to operate mechanized feeders.

In Kansas a storm that dumped up to 10 inches of snow in some sections was on its way out of the state, leaving at least six dead, including two more plane crash victims.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., asked President Nixon to declare Connecticut a disaster area as more snow and freezing rain were forecast.

An estimated 250,000 people were forced from their homes when temperatures dipped to near zero in some parts of the state during the night. They were living in hotels, friends' homes and emergency shelters.

Utility company linesmen were working around the clock to repair power lines felled by ice and fallen tree branches. Regular crews were boosted by others from nearby states. One 20-man crew flew in from Lansing, Mich. About 700 National Guardsmen also were working to clear fallen debris.

In Durham, Conn., Gary Estelle said he had four other families staying with him because of his gas heat and gas stove. "They're laying on the windowsills. It's one of the few houses in miles with heat," he said.

As for water, Estelle said, "You just go out and bang a tree and you've got enough water for the night."

Linda Michael of Middletown said she had friends who are "out shopping just to keep warm."

On Long Island, N.Y., some 24,000 were without power and some areas were without water. Nassau County Executive Ralph G. Caso asked President Nixon to declare an emergency and provide federal and state aid.

Commuter service in metropolitan New York was near normal after severe disruption earlier in the week.

Much of the Midwest also was under a blanket of snow Wednesday.

Heavy snow warnings were out for northeast Missouri. In St. Louis, clogged roads were jammed with traffic and Lambert St. Louis Municipal airport was closed.

State offices in Chicago and Springfield, Ill., were ordered closed by Gov. Daniel Walker because of snow.

The cold wave dipped as far south as Austin and Waco, Tex., where residents awoke Wednesday to unexpected light snow.

The National Weather Service warned of damaging hail and winds in several southern states. A tornado touched down near Beaumont, Tex., slightly injuring one person.

Storm-related deaths have been reported in Connecticut, New York State, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Colorado, Illinois, Kansas and Missouri. Two men died in a plane crash near Manhattan, Kan., during a snowstorm late Tuesday.

Southern California, as usual, was free of snow and freezing temperatures, but winds clocked at up to 62 miles per hour kicked up dust storms in the desert and inland areas.

Conferees OK $5.67 Billion In Foreign Aid Appropriations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate-House conferees agreed Wednesday on a $5.67-billion foreign-aid appropriations bill, including $2.2 billion in emergency military aid for Israel.

The conferees also recommended $150 million for emergency military aid to Cambodia, principally to replace ammunition for government forces fighting North Vietnamese-supplied insurgents.

Both the Israeli and Cambodian provisions are subject to passage of separate authorizing legislation. An Israeli aid bill, excluding Cambodia, is to be debated in the Senate Thursday.

The conferees agreed, however, to allow Cambodia to draw on Defense Department weapons stocks within a limitation for all aided countries of $250 million.

The total foreign aid package in the bill — including the traditional economic and military assistance and contributions to United Nations and other international organizations — is about $1.2 billion under President Nixon's budget request.

The conferees retained Senate-voted language to prohibit use of funds in the bill to ship petroleum products to Southeast Asian governments.

The bill, subject to final House and Senate approval later this week, would allow $450 million for reconstruction in Indochina. The Nixon administration asked for $632 million.

Military-assistance grants to all countries, not including Israel and the special extra fund for Cambodia, are earmarked at $450 million, compared with a requested $685 million.

The bill would allow up to $1.5 billion of the $2.2 billion special aid to Israel to be in the form of grants. The remainder would be in credit sales.

House and Senate amendments restricting aid to Chile and Ecuador were eliminated in conference.

Repentant Thief Pays For Lock Stolen In 1930s

Pocatello, Idaho (AP) — Man's conscience works in strange ways during the Christmas season, S. H. Kress Co. has discovered.

The store received a letter with a Rexburg, Idaho, postmark and the signature of "a repentant sinner." It contained payment for an article stolen in the 1930s.

The unnamed writer said he was in Pocatello with a group of high school pupils about 40 years ago when some of them shoplifted articles from the dime store.

Enclosed in the letter was a dollar bill and this postscript: "I hope that at least part of the feeling of guilt it has caused me will leave with this confession and payment."

Bids On Lions Eye Facility Near Estimate

Omaha (AP) — Contractors' bids came close to matching architect's estimates for the Lions Eye Institute at the University of Nebraska Medical Center Wednesday.

Combined base bids totaled $411,456, some $4,000 more than the estimate of $407,456, a Medical Center spokesman said.

The Board of Regents is to consider the bids Jan. 5. If approval is given, ground breaking should take place in late January, the spokesman said.

The one-story institute, which would adjoin University Hospital, will cost about $500,000 to build and equip. The cost is being met primarily by $250,000 in donations from Nebraska Lions Clubs and a $200,000 federal grant.

The institute will provide treatment and serve as a training facility.

Yaussi Group Buys Nebraska Securities Co.

Scottsbluff (AP) — The sale ot the Nebraska Securities Co., here was announced Wednesday by M. J. McMillan, president of the firm.

McMillan said the company was sold to Glenn Yaussi and group, affiliated with the NBC Co., of Lincoln.

The sale price was not disclosed.

Nebraska Securities has been in business since 1929, and under the same ownership since 1934.

The firm's current assets are around $3 million, McMillan said.

Yaussi is chairman of the NBC Co., and vice-chairman of the National Bank of Commerce in Lincoln.

Nebraska Securities will continue to operate under the same management and name, but will have a new board of directors.

New Senator

Wealthy Howard Metzenbaum, 56, of Cleveland was appointed to the Senate Wednesday to succeed Atty. Gen.-designate William Saxbe. Metzenbaum was chosen by Ohio Gov. John J. Gilligan.

10 Gallons A Driver Said Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration plans to limit service station sales to 10 gallons per customer, according to Rep. James F. Hastings, R-N.Y.

Hastings said that the proposed program would be mandatory for gasoline stations but voluntary for motorists, meaning that stations could not sell more than 10 gallons at a time but individual motorists would be able to stop for 10 gallons as often as they wished.

Getty Leaves Medical Clinic

ROME (AP) — Paul Getty III, grandson of the American oil billionaire, has left the clinic where he had been recovering from the shock and exhaustion of five months in the hands of kidnapers, who cut off one of his ears.

Nixon Should Have Footed Part Of Bill, Agency Says

Washington (UPI) — While most of the $1.4 million spent on President Nixon's homes was justified, there were some questionable government outlays that perhaps the President should have paid, the General Accounting Office said Wednesday.

The agency, which monitors government spending for Congress, said most of the federal funds went for improving security at Nixon's San Clemente, Calif., and Key Biscayne, Fla., estates.

The GAO investigation was limited to the $1.4 million spent on the two homes and grounds. Other items — including an office complex at San Clemente, communications installed in the Bahamas home of Nixon friend Robert Ablanalp and security at the homes of Nixon's daughters — cost a total of $10 million.

A White House spokesman said Wednesday that the GAO questioned only about $40,000 of the money spent on the San Clemente estate.

"The GAO report does not question the propriety of any expenditure on the Key Biscayne property," said deputy press secretary Gerald L. Warren.

"It is important to note that the GAO report has no question whatsoever about 97% of the $1.4 million which was spent after authorization by the Secret Service for the two properties."

The report concluded that a "casual attitude" prevailed in determining what work to do at the Nixon homes. This led to the General Services Administration doing "more than simply execute Secret Service requests" to improve protection, it said.

The report raised questions about a $13,500 heating system installed at San Clemente, since Nixon already had planned to pay for one himself.

The government paid for a survey of the San Clemente property, the report said, even though it had been ordered by Nixon's personal lawyer, Hebert W. Kalbach, as part of the original purchase arrangement.

And it said the government should not have shared the cost of a new sewer system at San Clemente.

In general, the report said that government contractors, under instruction of White House aides, went beyond what was required on a number of projects designed to improve presidential protection.

The report recommended these "inadequacies" be corrected by permitting expenditures at private presidential residences for protective purposes only at the request of the Secret Service.

Congress should consider limiting the number of presidential homes on which the government will pay for improvements, the report said, and the GSA should provide lawmakers with an annual report.

The report said the government spent at least $328,000 on private residences for former President Lyndon B. Johnson, but available records did not show how much of that was for security.

2 Army Deserters Surrender

New York (UPI) — In a crush of weeping friends and television cameras, two Army deserters Wednesday surrendered to FBI agents outside a Greenwich Village folk club.

Lew Simon, a leader of the exiled deserter community in Sweden for five years, and Edward McNally, who deserted in 1969 after returning from 13 months in Vietnam, were handcuffed by agents, pushed into cars and taken to the Armed Forces Police Detachment in Brooklyn.

Watching were their parents, Simon's wife, McNally's fiancee and friends, some of whom wept or shouted, "You'll be out soon!" "We're behind you!"

The surrender was the finale of a Christmas party at the club where the men explained their actions under a banner reading, "Welcome Home Lew and Ed."

The Safe Return group hopes to persuade the Army to forego court martials for Simon and McNally and instead grant them administrative discharges. The men hope that would establish a precedent of what Simon called "de facto amnesty" for the estimated 50,000 draft dodgers and deserters living in exile or in hiding.

An Army spokesman at Ft. Hamilton in Brooklyn said the men had been advised of their rights and given access to legal counsel. He said they were being held in a detention area pending a decision on where they will be sent.

If found guilty on charges of desertion or being absent without leave, an Army spokesman said the men could face dishonorable discharge and a year's confinement at hard labor. He stressed, however, that the disposition of the case is up to the commander at the military installation where the men are taken.

Simon and his pregnant wife, Monica, slipped into the United States a week ago from Sweden via Canada.

Having kicked a drug habit acquired in Vietnam, McNally recently enrolled at a college on Long Island, began helping drug addicts in a rehabilitation program, and became engaged to be married.

14 Dead In Train Wreck

London (UPI) — A packed commuter train crashed off the rails into an embankment Wednesday night in the west London suburb of Ealing, and police said casualties were heavy.

At least 14 persons were killed and 33 injured, police said.

Nine victims were pronounced dead at hospitals. Five others were trapped inside the wreckage of an overturned car and were found to be dead when firemen using cutting gear reached them, police said.

The train, carrying about 600 persons, was en route from London to Oxford when the diesel locomotive and four leading passenger cars crashed off the rails, hit an embankment and overturned. Other cars were strewn across the rails.

John Carroll, an accountant, described the crash. "There was a sudden braking and then a jumping all over the place. It was all a matter of seconds and the next thing was the coach on its side in the rubble," he said.

One of the first on the scene was Mrs. Agnes Bonnor, whose garden backs on to the railway line.

She said she was in her kitchen when she heard a "Tremendous bang."

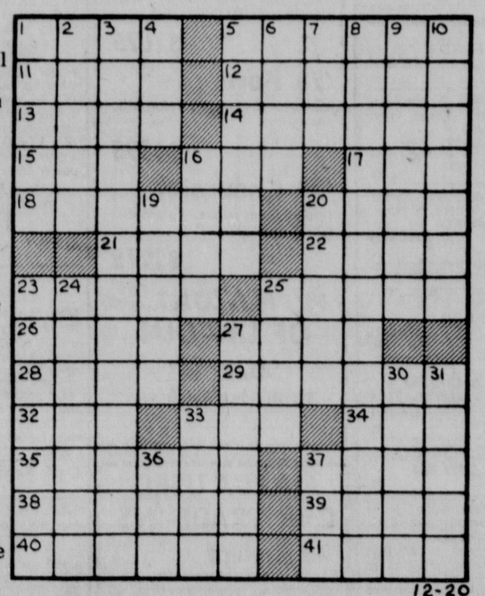
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE – Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. 12-20
